Seas Of Gold Seas Of Cotton Christophe Poulain Dubignon Of Jekyll Island:

Jekyll Island's Early Years June Hall McCash, 2014-05-05 Personality conflicts and unsanctioned love affairs also had an impact and McCash's narrative is filled with the names of Jekyll's powerful and often colorful families including Horton Martin Leake and du Bignon Jacket European Slave Trading in the Indian Ocean, 1500-1850 Richard B.

Allen, 2015-01-01 Between 1500 and 1850 European traders shipped hundreds of thousands of African Indian Malagasy and Southeast Asian slaves to ports throughout the Indian Ocean world The activities of the British Dutch French and Portuguese traders who operated in the Indian Ocean demonstrate that European slave trading was not confined largely to the Atlantic but must now be viewed as a truly global phenomenon European slave trading and abolitionism in the Indian Ocean also led to the development of an increasingly integrated movement of slave convict and indentured labor during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries the consequences of which resonated well into the twentieth century Richard B Allen's magisterial work dramatically expands our understanding of the movement of free and forced labor around the world Drawing upon extensive archival research and a thorough command of published scholarship Allen challenges the modern tendency to view the Indian and Atlantic oceans as self contained units of historical analysis and the attendant failure to understand the ways in which the Indian Ocean and Atlantic worlds have interacted with one another In so doing he offers tantalizing new insights into the origins and dynamics of global labor migration in the modern world A Southern

Underground Railroad Paul M. Pressly, 2024-08-01 Despite its apparent isolation as an older region of the country the Southeast provided a vital connecting link between the Black self emancipation that occurred during the American Revolution and the growth of the Underground Railroad in the final years of the antebellum period From the beginning of the revolutionary war to the eve of the First Seminole War in 1817 hundreds and eventually several thousand Africans and African Americans in Georgia and to a lesser extent South Carolina crossed the borders and boundaries that separated the Lowcountry from the British and Spanish in coastal Florida and from the Seminole and Creek people in the vast interior of the Southeast Even in times of peace there remained a steady flow of individuals moving south and southwest reflecting the aspirations of a captive people A Southern Underground Railroad constitutes a powerful counter narrative in American history a tale of how enslaved men and women found freedom and human dignity not in Jefferson's Empire of Liberty but outside the expanding boundaries of the United States It is a potent reminder of the strength of Black resistance in the post revolutionary South and the ability of this community to influence the balance of power in a contested region Paul M Pressly's research shows that their movement across borders was an integral part of the sustained struggle for dominance in the Southeast not only among the Great Powers but also among the many different racial ethnic and religious groups that inhabited the region and contended for control Seas of Gold, Seas of Cotton Martha L. Keber, 2002 This detailed biography of a man who flourished in two very different worlds opens a new doorway into the societies of prerevolutionary

France and postrevolutionary Georgia Christophe Poulain DuBignon 1739 1825 was the son of an impoverished Breton aristocrat Breaking social convention to engage in trade he began his long career first as a cabin boy in the navy of the French India Company and later as a sea captain and privateer After retiring from the sea DuBignon lived in France as a bourgeois noble with income from land moneylending and manufacturing Uprooted by the French Revolution DuBignon fled to Georgia late in 1790 settling among other refugees from France and the Caribbean A community long overlooked by historians of the American South this circle of planters nobles and bourgeois was bound together by language a shared faith and the migr experience On his Jekyll Island slave plantation DuBignon learned to cultivate cotton However he underwrote his new life through investments on both sides of the Atlantic extending his business ties to Charleston Liverpool and Nantes None of his ventures Martha L Keber notes compelled DuBignon to dwell long on the inconsistencies between his entrepreneurial drive and his noble heritage His worldview always remained aristocratic patriarchal and conservative DuBignon's passage of eighty six years took him from a tradition bound Europe to the entrepôts of the Indian Ocean to the plantation culture of a Georgia barrier island Wherever he went commerce was the constant Based on Keber's exhaustive research in European African and American archives Seas of Gold Seas of Cotton portrays a resilient nobleman so well schooled in the principles of the marketplace that he prospered in the Old World and the New Lost Plantations of the South Marc R. Matrana, 2014-07-18 The great majority of the South's plantation homes have been destroyed over time and many have long been forgotten In Lost Plantations of the South Marc R Matrana weaves together photographs diaries and letters architectural renderings and other rare documents to tell the story of sixty of these vanquished estates and the people who once called them home From plantations that were destroyed by natural disaster such as Alabama's Forks of Cypress to those that were intentionally demolished such as Seven Oaks in Louisiana and Mount Brilliant in Kentucky Matrana resurrects these lost mansions Including plantations throughout the South as well as border states Matrana carefully tracks the histories of each from the earliest days of construction to the often contentious struggles to preserve these irreplaceable historic treasures Lost Plantations of the South explores the root causes of demise and provides understanding and insight on how lessons learned in these sad losses can help prevent future preservation crises Capturing the voices of masters and mistresses alongside those of slaves and featuring more than one hundred elegant archival illustrations this book explores the powerful and complex histories of these cardinal homes across the South

Fraser, Jr.,2009-03-01 At once sobering and thrilling this illustrated history recounts how for the past three hundred years hurricanes have altered lives and landscapes along the Georgia South Carolina seaboard A prime target for the fierce storms that develop in the Atlantic the region is especially vulnerable because of its shallow gradually sloping sea floor and low lying coastline With an eye on both natural and built environments Fraser s narrative ranges from the first documented storm in 1686 to recent times in describing how the lowcountry has endured some of the severest effects of wind and water This chronology of the most notable lowcountry storms is also a useful primer on the basics of hurricane dynamics Fraser tells how the 800 ton Rising Sun foundered in open water near Charles Town during the hurricane of 1700 About one hundred persons were aboard All perished Drawing on eyewitness accounts he describes the storm surge of an 1804 hurricane that submerged most of Tybee Island and swept over the fort on nearby Cockspur Island drowning soldiers and civilians Readers may have their own memories of Hurricanes Andrew Opal and Hugo Although hurricanes frequently lead to significant loss of life Fraser recounts numerous gripping instances of survival and rescue at sea and ashore The author smoothly weaves the lowcountry s long social political and economic history with firsthand reports and data accumulated by the National Weather Service and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration Generously illustrated with contemporary and historical photographs this is a readable and informative resource on one of nature s most awesome forces
