Roger E. Van Harn,2005-02-03 Everyone knows that pulpits are for preaching and pews are for listening to sermons This obvious scenario however masks an essential prerequisite for faithful fruitful preaching namely that preachers listen to God and to their people before they speak Roger Van Harn here puts forth pointed questions that sermon listeners really ask of preachers Why should we listen to sermons Does every sermon need a Bible text How can a sermon be the word of God Do you preach for the church or the world Van Harn grapples with and discusses such questions giving preachers fresh insights into the needs and desires of congregations Preacher Can You Hear Us Listening will foster an ongoing dialogue between pulpit and pew and sharpen listening skills in both directions Fuller Voices Russell P. Spittler,2004-08 Co-Creative Communication in George Herbert and John Donne Sara Rogalski,2025-03-17 This study examines the co creative relationship between speakers hearers and God in poetry and prose by George Herbert and John Donne Through analyses of communicative situations communicative interactions and reflections on communication models of communication are established that underlie the texts selected In particular the activity of hearing is shown to be considered essential to the constitution of a meaningful utterance In this way a key function of communication becomes apparent it can yield a range of creative products from the conversation itself to a literary artefact and its extratextual effects This study thus offers a new reading of the texts of George Herbert and John Donne and provides a clear perspective on how early modern religious texts regarded communication and co creativity as connected concepts The Home World ,1882 An Exposition of the Epistles of St. Paul and of the Catholic Epistles John MacEvilly,1891 American Book Publishing Record ,1978 Family lectures: or, A copious collection of sermons, on faith and practice [ed. by V.
