Pelagic And Semi Pelagic Trawling Gear:

Pelagic and Semi-Pelagic Trawling Gear J. Garner, 1978 With heavier modern fishing practices and the inroads thereby made on basic stocks this author sees the need for specialized or unit fishing aimed at selective catching of mature shoals to avoid mass damage of juveniles First he describes the development of pelagic trawls The following chapters deal with existing nets and new concepts single vessel pelagic trawls and different towing assemblies otterboards and assembly procedures for pelagic gears supplemented by practical notes on rigging The concluding chapters deal with semi pelagic and single vessel dual purpose trawls and pelagic pair trawls and their application Clear illustrations give added value For the many specialized fisheries now of increasing importance and value throughout the world this work offers specific economic gains to the practical fisherman Pelagic and Semi Pelagic Trawling Gear John Garner, 1978-09-01

Catalogue of fishing gear in the Mediterranean and Black Sea region Lucchetti, A., Petetta, A., Bdioui, M., Gökçe, G., Saber, M., Sacchi, J., Ozbilgin, H., Carlson, A., Carpentieri, P., 2023-10-30 The wide variety of marine species of the Mediterranean and the Black Sea found in different geographical subregions and habitats has led to the development of a highly diversified fishing sector characterized by a broad range of fishing gear Over time harvesting marine resources has become more efficient due to a progressively improving understanding of the habits and behaviours of the various target species In order to find ways to conserve fish resources and the marine environment there is a need to further study these different types of fishing gear as well as to develop less impactful techniques To this end a comprehensive overview of fishing gear and methods in use in the Mediterranean and the Black Sea can facilitate the mitigation of incidental catch of vulnerable species the mitigation of adverse impacts of fisheries on juvenile fish and discards the decarbonization of fishing fleets through more energy efficient gear the development of innovative gear to remove marine litter and the reduction of lost abandoned and otherwise discarded fishing gear to name a few This catalogue aims to provide such an overview and to describe the main technical characteristics and modes of use of fishing gear in operation in the region considering specificities and differences not only at the regional level but also at the country and local levels Advances in Harvest and Post-Harvest

Technology of Fishes D.D. Nambudiri, 2012-01-15 In recent years there have been notable advances in the fisheries Progresses made in refinements of vessels new line materials and line handling systems preserving the catch the availability of oceanographic sensor equipments and the utilization of satellite technology to locate potential fishing grounds have greatly improved the fishing power of longline vessels Post harvest technology of fish has evolved in the last one decade to a more energy efficient cost effective and quality upgrading technology Since fresh fish can get spoiled very quickly the development of technology for post harvest preservation and methodology to convert fish to value added products have also become popular in recent times Value addition helps in getting high price for the fishery products There is a need to develop competent human resources in the field of post harvest management of fish and production of value added products from human exploitation of marine resources has become more efficient as the understanding of the habits and behaviour of the various species available in the sea gradually increased. Thus technologies have developed naturally over time and fishing gears and practices have become more sophisticated. These technical advances in fishing gear have generally led to more efficient economic fishing operations and better access to resources. However, fishing implies the harvesting of marine organisms directly from their natural environment; therefore, general awareness of environmental problems due to the exploitation of fishery resources has also increased. In particular, the poor selectivity of some gears is responsible for the capture of juveniles, immature and undersized specimens of many species, with negative consequences on the state of stocks. In addition, bycatch in marine fisheries is a major source of human-caused mortality of marine megafauna, often leading to the capture of vulnerable species. Finally, many bottom-towed gears are responsible for high impacts on bottom communities and habitats, with cascading consequences on the entire marine ecosystem. All these impacts can lead to changes in the structure, function and integrity of ecosystems, including effects on the food webs and multispecies predator-prey relationships.
