The Good Earth by Pearl S. Buck Pearl Sydenstricker Buck, 1944 Modern Women in China and Japan Katrina Gulliver, 2012-02-21 At the dawn of the 1930s a new empowered and liberated image of the female was taking root in popular culture in the West This modern woman archetype was also penetrating into Eastern cultures however challenging the Chinese and Japanese historical norm of the woman as homemaker servant or geisha Through a focus on the writings of the Western women who engaged with the Far East and the Eastern writers and personalities who reacted to this new global gender communication by forming their own separate identities Katrina Gulliver reveals the complex redefining of the self taking place in a crucial time of political and economic upheaval Including an analysis of the work of Nobel Prize laureate Pearl S. Buck The Modern Woman in China and Japan is an important contribution to gender studies and will appeal to historians and scholars of China and East Asia as well as to those studying Asian and American literature The Politics of Cultural Capital Julia Lovell, 2006-03-31 In the 1980s China's politicians writers and academics began to raise an increasingly urgent question why had a Chinese writer never won a Nobel Prize for literature Promoted to the level of official policy issue and national complex Nobel anxiety generated articles conferences and official delegations to Sweden Exiled writer Gao Xingjian's win in 2000 failed to satisfactorily end the matter and the controversy surrounding the Nobel committee's choice has continued to simmer Julia Lovell's comprehensive study of China's obsession spans the twentieth century and taps directly into the key themes of modern Chinese culture national identity international status and the relationship between intellectuals and politics The intellectual preoccupation with the Nobel literature prize expresses tensions inherent in China's move toward a global culture after the collapse of the Confucian world view at the start of the twentieth century and particularly since China's re entry into the world economy in the post Mao era Attitudes toward the prize reveal the same contradictory mix of admiration resentment and anxiety that intellectuals and writers have long felt toward Western values as they struggled to shape a modern Chinese identity In short the Nobel complex reveals the pressure points in an intellectual community not entirely sure of itself Making use of extensive original research including interviews with leading contemporary Chinese authors and critics The Politics of Cultural Capital is a comprehensive up to date treatment of an issue that cuts to the heart of modern and contemporary Chinese thought and culture It will be essential reading for scholars of modern Chinese literature and culture globalization post colonialism and comparative and world literature
