Shifting African Identities:

Shifting African Identities S. B. Bekker, Martine Dodds, Meshack M. Khosa, 2001 This volume is the second in the series Identity theory politics history It includes Neville Alexander's important study of the link between language and identity in South Africa Shifting African Identities, 2001 Shifting African identities, 1998 Explains the concept of transnational ethnicity Paper presented at the Conference on African Shifting Identities Cape Town 23 Jul 1998 organised by the Foundation for Global Dialogue the French Institute of South Africa and Human Sciences Research Council African Migrants in Africa and Europe Frank Aragbonfoh Abumere, 2025-11-06 This book juxtaposes two realities of our world On the one hand the extensity intensity and velocity of the current form of globalization amplified the role of globalization in the migrations and movements of people and consequently amplified the centrality of the migrations and movements of people in our contemporary world On the other hand in spite of globalization i migration is a problematic phenomenon and ii Africans remain outsiders in Europe and Africans from some African states remain outsiders in other African states Understanding i and ii is crucial to understanding the current plight of African migrants Taking his cue from Alexander Wendt's 1992 social constructivist argument that anarchy is what states make of it Frank Abumere shows how and why the problem of identity rather than the problem of securitization is the fundamental problem when dealing with the problem of migration

Identity Transformation and Politicization in Africa Toyin Falola, Céline A. Jacquemin, 2022-09-06 Identity Transformation and Politicization in Africa Shifting Mobilization edited by Toyin Falola and Céline A. Jacquemin questions whether identity is providing and sustaining power for elites or fueling oppression and conflicts being mobilized for exclusionary movements versus inclusive societal changes or educating in ways that foster progress and development Do aspects of African identities and the challenges they present also hold prospects for more inclusive and peaceful democratic and representative futures The contributors cover a wide spectrum of expertise on different African countries Kenya Nigeria Ghana Rwanda Morocco and Libya They come from diverse disciplines History Political Science Public Administration Philosophy Economics and Finance Cultural Studies Music and International Relations and use various methods and approaches in their research Some contributors belong to the groups whose identity is being scrutinized and are participants in the efforts to politicize and mobilize while others remain outside observers who share some traits or interests with the African identities examined and provide different kinds of insights Several chapters explore how innovative pedagogical projects studying African history and identity facilitated by the internet and new social media transform and connect with the African continent Each author provides important insights on how mobilization around identity issues has been shifting with the internet and social media

Ethnicity and Sociopolitical Change in Africa and Other Developing Countries Santosh C. Saha, 2008-03-07 This edited collection of essays answers a basic question posed by contemporary discourse on state building How might people's identification with a particular ethnic group matter Essays in this book use an integrated multi disciplinary approach to understanding regional and local community culture and socio political development in developing countries especially in Sub Saharan Africa to argue that the state as well as civil society confers on cultural differences a legitimacy that can be achieved in no other way but by positive cooperation Contributors from different countries look at local patterns in state building and modernization as they have unfolded over the course of the last fifty years They claim that the people and ethnic groups in most developing countries adhere to a concept of popular sovereignty that testifies that aspects of positive and moral ethnicity can contribute to social change as in China economic development as in India or in a democratization process as in Rwanda and Burundi The eventual methodological assumption made by these essays presumes that ethnic conflicts in such countries as Cyprus Turkey India and Rwanda have no moral sanction ethnicity has not assumed a political ideology One conclusion reached by the contributors is that some form of accommodation between opposing ethnically diversified groups as well as between state and ethnic elements is feasible

National Identity and Democracy in Africa Mai Palmberg,1999 Sexual Identity; Sex Roles and Social Change Betty Yorburg,1974 The Rise of the Islamic Movement in Sudan (1945-1989) Mustafa A. Abdelwahid,2008 This work uses Social Movement Theory to explain the increased political power of Islam in Sudan Shifting Selves Herman Wasserman,Sean Jacobs,2003 Sparked by the enormous political changes in South Africa since the fall of apartheid the essays in this collection focus on the rapidly changing nature of South African mass media art and other forms of aesthetic expression Towards an African Identity of Higher Education Sipho Seepe,2004 Mobility, Identity and Racism in Caryl Phillips' "A Distant Shore and Foreigners: Three English Lives" Ilias Najih,2025-01-28 Master s Thesis from the year 2023 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 16 Sultan Moulay Sliman University Sultan moulay slimane university course British Carribeian Literaure language English abstract The following dissertation aims to examine mobility identity and racism in Caryl Phillips A Distant Shore and Foreigners Three English Lives The following research finds it useful to rely on theoretical works pertaining to mobility identity and racism They contribute immensely to the comprehension and thus the close inspection of the concepts and works under scrutiny The originality of the following dissertation lies in its examination of concepts that have not been discussed yet in the works under inspection These include identity mobility and racism The present dissertation is divided into three parts The first one is devoted to investigating mobility in the two literary works Emphasis is placed on the meanings of mobility mainly the literal and metaphorical meanings Then the focus is on power and its immense contribution to mobilizing and immobilizing people Thus this chapter is intended to argue that mobility is conditioned by structures of power Stress is also laid on the final outcomes of mobility The second part revolves around identity in A Distant Shore and Foreigners Three English Lives Clearly the spatial transition of the characters from one space to another gives birth to numerous changes in their identities Hence emphasis is put on the mobile nature of identity The second chapter is a continuation of the first one in the sense that it examines the hybrid nature of identity It is an attempt to contest the fixity and stability of cultures and identities by foregrounding their plural and hybrid nature The main aim of the final chapter is to expose the complexity and problematic nature of the characters identities The final section of this research project tackles racism in the two chosen literary works of Phillips It is meant to argue that the spatial transition of immigrants from their homeland to a host country brings about their exposure to all forms of racism Equally important racism is marked by many antagonisms more particularly the Manichean Allegory Last but not least the ultimate chapter foregrounds the repercussions of racism by arguing that these consequences are detrimental to the immigrants physicality and psychology
