Eco-Resorts Zbigniew Bromberek, 2009-06-04 Eco Resorts is a design guide for low impact environmentally friendly tourist resorts in the tropics The book is the first to offer architects practical detailed guidance in developing resort buildings that work with a tropical climate and meet the needs and expectations of the client and building inhabitants The book includes both architectural design and material solutions supported by theoretical principles to present a sustainable approach to resort design It demonstrates that tropical resort buildings do not necessarily require large energy input in compliance with green building standards Case studies show how principles of sustainable design have been successfully applied in tropical environments Written by an industry insider with practical design experience knowledge and expertise Demonstrates design practices related to site planning and layout and re assesses best practices for a tropical environment allowing architects to apply design principles to their own projects Includes international case studies from several countries to illustrate best practice from a variety of tropical climate destinations around the world Z Zbigniew Bromberek PhD is an architect educated and registered in Poland and postgraduate educated and residing in Australia Z has been practising and teaching architecture for nearly 30 years He has been involved and associated with various educational institutions and professional organizations in a number of countries around the world Before the current appointment as Senior Lecturer in Architecture at the University of Tasmania Z spent three years as Lecturer in Environmental Design at the University of Queensland and two years as Guest Professor in Architectural Design in Nanjing PR China He was also the President of the Architectural Science Association ANZAScA for three consecutive terms in 2000 05 Z s major research interests include design environment interaction low impact architecture and re integration of architecture as an expression of a multi disciplinary approach to design

Energy and the New Reality 1 Danny Harvey, 2010-08-12 Reducing and managing humanity s demand for energy is a fundamental part of the effort to mitigate climate change In this the most comprehensive textbook ever written on the subject L D Danny Harvey lays out the theory and practice of how things must change if we are to meet our energy needs sustainably The book begins with a succinct summary of the scientific basis for concern over global warming then outlines energy basics and current patterns and trends in energy use This is followed by a discussion of current and advanced technologies for the generation of electricity from fossil fuels The book then considers in detail how energy is used and how this use can be dramatically reduced in the following end use sectors buildings transportation industry food and agriculture municipal services The findings from these sector by sector assessments are then applied to generate scenarios of how global energy demand could evolve over the coming decades with full implementation of the identified and economically feasible energy saving potential The book ends with a brief discussion of policies that can be used to reduce energy demand but also addresses the limits of technologically based improvements in efficiency in moderating demand and of the need to re think some of our underlying assumptions concern ends with a brief discussing what we really need Along with its companion volume on C free energy supply and accompanied by extensive supplementary online material this is an essential resource for students and practitioners in engineering architecture environment and energy related fields Online material includes Excel based computational exercises teaching slides for each chapter links to free software tools

Atrium Charles Rice, 2023-10-17 How the rise of the large scale atrium space in the 1970s and 80s changed the way buildings could be designed constructed regulated and occupied In the 1970s a void opened at the heart of architecture In hotels offices public buildings and commercial centers the atrium emerged globally to challenge the modernist legacies of form and function altering the pattern and experience of cities While often appearing at vast scale and to striking effect the atrium also became omnipresent and mundane In this lively critique Charles Rice charts the atrium s appearance in the 1970s and its development through the 1980s as it accompanied profound shifts in the discipline and practice of architecture During this period architectural practice especially in the United States and United Kingdom was changing rapidly due in part to the manifold effects of deregulation All aspects of the way buildings were designed developed regulated built managed and occupied were being reshaped A practice guided by the progressive tenets of modernism was being turned into a professional service fully integrated within neoliberal social and economic imperatives As Rice shows the atrium gives this story a distinct spatial and material figure one that offers an inside view of architecture in transformation
