Population Consumption And The Environment Religious And Secular Responses:

Population, Consumption, and the Environment Harold Coward, 1995-11-16 This book concentrates on the different ways in which the major world religions view the problems of overpopulation and excess resource consumption and how they approach possible solutions After examining the natural background and the human context the book moves on to consider both religious and secular approaches It analyzes how a particular religion's scriptures comment on the nature of people the environment people's place in the environment and their roles and responsibilities The historical dimension is derived from reviewing a particular religion's record in teaching about these issues often demonstrating how broader issues are addressed Practical lessons are learned from religious guidelines that deal with current problems and offer solutions The authors consider Aboriginal spirituality Judaism Christianity Islam Hinduism Buddhism and Chinese religions The secular approaches include secular ethics North South relations market forces the status of women and international law The Oxford

Handbook of Religion and Ecology Roger S. Gottlieb, 2006-11-09 The last two decades have seen the emergence of a new field of academic study that examines the interaction between religion and ecology Theologians from every religious tradition have confronted world religions past attitudes towards nature and acknowledged their own faiths complicity in the environmental crisis Out of this confrontation have been born vital new theologies based in the recovery of marginalized elements of tradition profound criticisms of the past and ecologically oriented visions of God the Sacred the Earth and human beings The proposed handbook will serve as the definitive overview of these exciting new developments Divided into three main sections the book's essays will reflect the three dominant dimensions of the field Part one will explore traditional religious concepts of and attitudes towards nature and how these have been changed by the environmental crisis Part II looks at larger conceptual issues that transcend individual traditions Part III will examine religious participation in environmental politics Christianity and Ecological Theology E. M. Conradie, 2006-10-01 There has been a proliferation of publications in the field of Christian ecological theology over the last three decades or so These include a number of recent edited volumes each covering a range of topics and consolidating many of the emerging insights in ecological theology The call for Christian churches to respond to the environmental crisis has been reiterated numerous times in this vast corpus of literature also in South Africa

Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature Bron Taylor, Jeffrey Kaplan, 2005-01-01 No Marketing Blurb Handbook of Global Environmental Policy and Administration Dennis Soden, Brent R. Steel, 1999-07-16 Presenting case studies involving Rwanda Nepal Australia Japan and Mexico including real time policy and administrative questions this versatile reference text provides a wide perspective on national and international environmental problems and policies featuring discussions with a regional emphasis as well as global significance Pooling the work of over 60 international contributors in disciplines ranging from anthropology to political science the Handbook of Global Environmental Policy and Administration illustrates how environmental concerns are incorporated into administrative functions and policy processes Fifty Years of Religious Studies in Canada Harold Coward, 2014-11-07 In Canadian universities in the early 1960s no courses were offered on Hinduism Buddhism or Islam Only the study of Christianity was available usually in a theology program in a church college or seminary Today almost every university in North America has a religious studies department that offers courses on Western and Eastern religions as well as religion in general Harold Coward addresses this change in this memoir of his forty five year career in the development of religious studies as a new academic field in Canada He also addresses the shift from theology classes in seminaries to non sectarian religious studies faculties of arts and humanities the birth and growth of departments across Canada from the 1960s to the present the contribution of McMaster University to religious studies in Canada and Coward s Ph D experience there the Centre for Studies in Religion and Society at the University of Victoria and the future of religious studies as a truly interdisciplinary enterprise Coward s retrospective while not a history as such documents information from his varied experience and wide network of colleagues that is essential for a future formal history of the discipline His story is both personally engaging and richly informative about the development of the field The Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature: K-Z Bron Raymond Taylor, Jeffrey Kaplan, 2005 The Encyclopedia of Religion and Nature originally published in 2005 is a landmark work in the burgeoning field of religion and nature It covers a vast and interdisciplinary range of material from thinkers to religious traditions and beyond with clarity and style Widely praised by reviewers and the recipient of two reference work awards since its publication see www.religionandnature.com ern this new more affordable version is a must have book for anyone interested in the manifold and fascinating links between religion and nature in all their many senses Inherited Land Whitney A. Bauman, Richard R. Bohannon II, Kevin J. O'Brien, 2011-08-04 Religion and ecology has arrived What was once a niche interest for a few academics concerned with environmental issues and a few environmentalists interested in religion has become an established academic field with classic texts graduate programs regular meetings at academic conferences and growing interest from other academics and the mass media Theologians ethicists sociologists and other scholars are engaged in a broad dialogue about the ways religious studies can help understand and address environmental problems including the sorts of methodological terminological and substantive debates that characterize any academic discourse This book recognizes the field that has taken shape reflects on the ways it is changing and anticipates its development in the future The essays offer analyses and reflections from emerging scholars of religion and ecology each addressing her or his own specialty in light of two questions 1 What have we inherited from the work that has come before us and 2 What inquiries concerns and conversation partners should be central to the next generation of scholarship The aim of this volume is not to lay out a single and clear path forward for the field Rather the authors critically reflect on the field from within outline some of the major issues we face in the academy and offer perspectives that will nurture continued dialogue Life Ethics in World Religions Dawne McCance, 1998 A collection of ten essays explaining ethical positions in major religions on such issues as sexuality and sexual difference contraception and reproduction death and dying and ecology and warfare In addition to the standard Buddhist Hindu Judaism existential Christianity and Islam they include goddess religions and aboriginal philosophies Two consider feminist challenges to ethics and religious responses to global ethical issues Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Religion and the Environment: Ecotheology II: Islma, Asian traditions and indigenous traditions Roger S. Gottlieb, 2010 In the last two decades a new form of religiously motivated social action and a virtually new field of academic study each based in recognition of the connections between religion and humanity's treatment of the environment have developed Interactions between religion and environmental concern have been manifest in the explosive growth of ecotheological writings institutional commitment by organized religions and environmental activism explicitly oriented to religious ideals Clergy throughout the world in virtually every denomination have received word from leaders of their religion that the environment no less than sexuality poverty or war and peace is now a basic and compelling religious matter Out of this confrontation have been born vital new theologies based in the recovery of marginalized elements of tradition profound criticisms of the past and ecologically oriented visions of God the Sacred the Earth and human beings Theologians from every religious tradition along with dozens of non denominational spiritual writers have confronted world religions past attitudes towards nature In the realm of institutional commitment public statements and actions by organized religions have grown dramatically In the context of political action throughout the U S and the world religiously oriented groups take part in environmentally oriented political action from lobbying and consciousness raising to activist demonstrations and civil disobedience This collection serves as a comprehensive introduction overview and in depth account of these exciting new developments The four volumes cover virtually every aspect of the field from theological change and institutional commitment to innovation in liturgy from new ecumenical connections among different religions and between religion science and environmental movements from religious participation in environmental politics to an account of the global social and political contexts in which religious environmentalism has unfolded Environment & Planning ,1998 Environmental Politics and Policy Brent Steel, Richard L. Clinton, Nicholas P. Lovrich, 2003 This exciting new text for the Environmental Politics and or Policy course s does not just look at this subject from a U S perspective but an international one expanding upon and reflecting the globalization of this important area of study Using the comparative approach students will learn about environmental issues but not without a larger context Included in the comparative examination are post industrial countries developing countries post Communist countries and of course the U S In addition chapters on science what science is and how it fits into the political context international law and emerging issues such as women and the environment make this a strong and exciting text Alternatives Journal ,1997 William and Mary Environmental Law and Policy Review ,2003 Population, Environment and Development Alina Potrykowska, 2005 □□□□□□□□□□□□□□□□, □□□□□, □□ ,1999 Confucianism and Ecology Mary Evelyn Tucker, John H. Berthrong, 1998 Indeed nearly one quarter of the world's population has been influenced by Confucianism in some way especially in family structures and values. The challenge as Tu Weiming suggests is to ensure the continuance of tradition in modernity thereby achieving an effective counterpoint to the destruction of both human communities and the Earth community. Environmentalism in the Muslim World Richard C. Foltz, 2005. This is the first book to provide an overview of how Muslim activists are responding on the ground to the global environmental crisis. The detrimental effects of environmental degradation are felt most severely by the world's poor, a disproportionate number of whom are Muslims. Unfortunately, governments of Muslim societies have been slow to respond to environmental problems while opposition movements as well have mostly chosen to focus on other issues. Nevertheless, environmental awareness and activism are growing throughout the Muslim world. This book offers chapters by leading Muslim environmentalists which survey environmental initiatives in Egypt, Turkey, Iran, Pakistan, Nigeria, and Malaysia. Issues are detailed, pointing out both successes and failures and describing the unique challenges facing the world's very diverse Muslim societies in striving to balance development and social justice with preserving the integrity of the earth's life support systems. Denver journal of international law and policy, 1998. Daoism and Ecology N. J. Girardot, James Miller, Xiaogan Liu, 2001. The authors in this volume consider the intersection of Daoism and ecology, looking at the theoretical and historical implications associated with a Daoist approach to the environment. They also analyze perspectives found in Daoist religious texts and within the larger Chinese cultural context in order to delineate key issues found in the classical texts.
