Shakespeare-Jahrbuch, 1995 The Shakespearean International Yearbook Graham Bradshaw, Tom Bishop, 2017-05-15 This eighth volume of The Shakespearean International Yearbook presents a special section on European Shakespeares proceeding from the claim that Shakespeare's literary craft was not just native English or British but was filtered and fashioned through a Renaissance awareness that needs to be recognized as European and that has had effects and afterlives across the Continent Guest editors Ton Hoenselaars and Clara Calvo have constructed this section to highlight both how the spread of Shakespeare throughout Europe has brought together the energies of a wide variety of European cultures across several centuries and how the inclusion of Shakespeare in European culture has been not only a European but also a world affair The Shakespearean International Yearbook continues to provide an annual survey of important issues and developments in contemporary Shakespeare studies Contributors to this issue come from the US and the UK Spain Switzerland and South Africa Canada The Netherlands India Portugal Greece France and Hungary In addition to the section on European Shakespeares this volume includes essays on the genre of romance issues of character and other topics

Gender and Song in Early Modern England Leslie C. Dunn, Katherine R. Larson, 2016-04-15 Song offers a vital case study for examining the rich interplay of music gender and representation in the early modern period This collection engages with the question of how gender informed song within particular textual social and spatial contexts in sixteenth and seventeenth century England Bringing together ongoing work in musicology literary studies and film studies it elaborates an interdisciplinary consideration of the embodied and gendered facets of song and of song's capacity to function as a powerful and flexible gendered signifier. The essays in this collection draw vivid attention to song as a situated textual and musical practice and to the gendered processes and spaces of song's circulation and reception. In so doing they interrogate the literary and cultural significance of song for early modern readers, performers and audiences.

Appropriation as Practice of Memory Dimitar Daphinoff, Franziska Metzger, 2024-11-18. This volume explores how narratives and iconographic codes in literature, art, music, material culture and social, political and economic discourses were appropriated and thereby sometimes radically transformed by religious agents and how religious narrations, discourses and iconographic practices were reimagined and used up to radical deconstruction in non-religious contexts as well as in different or transformed religious contexts. Religious appropriation is thereby conceived as practice of memory drawing on reused and creating transformed narrative and visual spaces of imagination. The dimension of memory will contribute to a more differentiated typology of practices of appropriation, their forms, functions and functionalisation. Agency and power relations will be important factors in the individual contributions of this transdisciplinary volume that links approaches from memory studies, religious history, literary studies and art history.
