Incomparable Poetry Robert Kiely, 2020 Incomparable Poetry An Essay on the Financial Crisis of 2007 2008 and Irish Literature is an attempt to describe the ways in which the financial crisis of 2007 8 impacted literature in Ireland and thereby describe the ways in which poetry engages with is structured by and wrestles with economic issues Ireland and its contemporary poetry is a particularly suitable case study for studying the effect of the economic crisis on Anglophone poetry because poetry in Ireland has a special relationship to the state and economy due to its status as a postcolonial nation state Beginning with a summary of recent Irish economic and cultural history and moving across experimental and mainstream poetry this essay outlines how the poetry of Trevor Joyce Leontia Flynn Dave Lordan and Rachel Warriner addresses in its form and content the boom years of the Celtic Tiger and the financial crisis Incomparable Poetry also discusses the concerns and historical contexts these poets have turned to in order to make sense of these events including Chinese history accountancy sexual violence and Iceland s economic history In contemporary Irish poetry the author argues we see a significant interest in matching capitalism s accounting abilities but in this attempt these poems often end up broken by the imposition of an external conceptual framework or economic logic Robert Kiely grew up in Cork Ireland and now lives in London His critical work has been published in Irish University Review Journal of British and Irish Innovative Poetry The Parish Review and Samuel Beckett Today Aujourd hui His chapbooks include How to Read Crater 2017 and Killing the Cop in Your Head Sad 2017 He is Poet in Residence at University of Surrey for 2019 20 A History of Irish Working-Class Writing Michael Pierse, 2018 Michael Pierse is Lecturer in Irish literature at Queen s University Belfast His research mainly explores the writing and cultural production of Irish working class life Over recent years this work has expanded into new multidisciplinary themes and international contexts including the study of festivals digital methodologies in public humanities and theatre as research practices Michael has contributed to a range of national and international publications is the author of Writing Ireland's Working Class Dublin after O'Casey 2011 and has been awarded several Arts and Humanities Research Council awards and the Vice Chancellor's Award at Queen's. English Language Poets in University College Cork, 1970-1980 Cliona Ní Ríordáin, 2020-01-27 This book looks at a cohort of poets who studied at University College Cork during the 1970s and early 1980s. Based on extensive interviews and archival work the book examines the notion that the poets form a generation in sociological terms. It proposes an analysis of the work of the poets studying the thematic and preoccupations that shape their oeuvre. Among the poets that figure in the book are Greg Delanty, Theo Dorgan, Seán Dunne, Gerry Murphy, Thomas McCarthy, Gregory O'Donoghue and Maurice Riordan. The volume is prefaced by Eilín Ní Chuilleanain.

Irish Writing in the Twentieth Century David Pierce, 2000 Arranged chronologically by decade from the 1890s to the 1990s each decade is divided into two different types of writing: critical documentary and imaginative writing and is accompanied by a headnote which situates it thematically and chronologically. The Reader is also structured for thematic study by listing all the pieces included under a series of topic headings. The wide range of material encompasses writings of well-known figures in the Irish canon and neglected writers alike. This will appeal to the general reader but also makes Irish Writing in the Twentieth Century ideal as a core text providing a unique focus for detailed study in a single volume. BOOK JACKET

Collected Poems, 1986-2006 Greg Delanty, 2006 This volume brings together twenty years of the acclaimed Irish poet's work. Each of Greg Delanty's six books so far published is an entity in itself; a single seeming movement. Bringing the books together in a single volume juxtaposing them as it were reveals the enormous resourcefulness and wit of this unusual poet who keenly interweaves material and themes drawn from his reading, writing and living. There is no real line between them: Marriage, childbirth, friendship, landscapes, Irish and Indian and American, real and imagined, politics, the personal and private and the public, we are organised as a word and a line and a stanza are made from a tray of type as in a tapestry; the unseen sewing happens and holds as in growth; a foetus evolves into a child. Things fall apart too and there is pattern and method in that process as well. The Poems of Sweeney Peregrine Trevor Joyce, 1976

The Collected Poems of John Hewitt John Harold Hewitt, 1991 Aristophanes: The suits Aristophanes, 1998 Collected Poems, 1950-1973 Anthony Cronin, 1973 Euripides: Ion. Children of Heracles. The madness of Heracles. Iphigenia in Tauris. Orestes Euripides, 1998

Barbarese: Children of Heracles, Katharine Washburn and David Curzon: The Madness of Heracles, Carolyn Kizer: Iphigenia in Tauris and Greg Delanty: Orestes. Aristophanes: The suits, clouds, birds Aristophanes, 1999 The Long Embrace Frank Ormsby, 1987 Presenting the best Irish love poems of the 20th century starting with Yeats and ending with Elliott.
