WAYS TO BUILD SELF RELIANCE

Self-reliance is the ability to use your own powers, ideas, skills, and resources without the help of others. It's a fundamental part of independence.

Increase your self-reliance with these ideas:

1

Take responsibility. One of the key features of self-reliance is taking responsibility for your actions and words.

2

Pass up the chance to blame others. Some things may be beyond your control. Instead of being a victim, leave the past behind and move forward in the best way you can with the situation as it is.

3

Stay informed. It's easier to be self-reliant if you're aware of the latest news and potential issues.

4

Investigate solutions on your own. Spend time investigating how to solve the challenge on your own instead of immediately asking others for help and advice.

5

Avoid expecting others to rescue you. Your family and friends may not always be around to save you.

6

Look for opportunities to learn. You can build self-reliance by constantly seeking out new skills and activities that will provide learning experiences.
