The Decarbonization Imperative Michael Lenox, Rebecca Duff, 2021-10-19 Time is of the essence Climate change looms as a malignant force that will reshape our economy and society for generations to come If we are going to avoid the worst effects of climate change we are going to need to effectively decarbonize the global economy by 2050 This doesn't mean a modest or even a drastic improvement in fuel efficiency standards for automobiles It means 100 percent of the cars on the road being battery powered or powered by some other non carbon emitting powertrain It means 100 percent of our global electricity needs being met by renewables and other non carbon emitting sources such as nuclear power It means electrifying the global industrial sector and replacing carbon intensive chemical processes with green alternatives eliminating scope one emissions emissions in production across all industries particularly steel cement petrochemicals which are the backbone of the global economy It means sustainable farming while still feeding a growing global population Responding to the existential threat of climate change Michael Lenox and Rebecca Duff propose a radical reconfiguration of the industries contributing the most and most harmfully to this planetary crisis Disruptive innovation and a particular calibration of industry dynamics will be key to this change The authors analyze precisely what this might look like for specific sectors of the world economy ranging from agriculture to industrials and building energy and transportation and examine the possible challenges and obstacles to introducing a paradigm shift in each one With regards to existent business practices and products how much and what kind of transformation can be achieved The authors assert that markets are critical to achieving the needed change and that they operate within a larger scale of institutional rules and norms Lenox and Duff conclude with an analysis of policy interventions and strategies that could move us toward clean tech and decarbonization by 2050

Impact of digital transformation on business models in the automotive industry Robin Mayer,2023-06-12 Master s Thesis from the year 2023 in the subject Engineering Automotive Engineering grade 1 5 University of Applied Sciences Aalen language English abstract Digital transformation and disruptive business models of new market players create unprecedented uncertainty in the automotive industry One of the main reasons is the lack of understanding for the need of adapting business models to a changing business environment due to new technologies and shifting customer wants and needs Even the automotive industry is not spared from digital Darwinism according to which it is not the strongest or most intelligent of a species that survives but rather the one that adapts best to change What opportunities do OEMs have to transform their business models How can best practices be used to generate new value creation and what influence does the transformation of the business model have on the ecosystem What role will the dealer play in the future and how can he still deliver added value to the OEM This paper provides an in depth insight into the world of automotive sales as well as a detailed analysis of the status quo Best practices based on successful business model transformations of the top tier OEMs are the basis for a deeper understanding and serve other companies as foundation for developing digital business models The goal of this paper is to examine the impact of digital transformation on the dealer business model and how they can continue to deliver value to the OEM For this purpose guided expert interviews are conducted with 16 experts from various areas of the automotive industry Subsequently a qualitative content analysis according to Mayring will be used to assess the challenges and impacts of the agent business model and to develop improvement measures and key topics that offer added value for OEMs The results of this thesis support dealers in understanding their future role in the automotive industry and show design recommendations for a future proof business model

Foreign Direct Investment in Latin America and the Caribbean 2018 United Nations,2019-01-30 This publication sets out and analyses the main foreign direct investment FDI trends in the countries of Latin America and the Caribbean In 2017 certain trends that had already emerged in the global economic landscape became more established In particular announcements of potential restrictions on trade and pressures to relocate production to developed countries were confirmed At the same time China has taken steps to restrict outflows of foreign direct investment FDI in order to align these flows with its strategic plan Adding to these factors is the expansion of digital technologies whose international expansion requires smaller investments in tangible assets Firms in these areas are heavily concentrated in the United States and China which reduces the need for cross border mergers and acquisitions 73
