Toutkoushian, Ulrich Teichler, 2011-06-06 This ground breaking and exhaustive analysis of university ranking surveys scrutinizes their theoretical bases methodological issues societal impact and policy implications providing readers with a deep understanding of these controversial comparators The authors propose that university rankings are misused by policymakers and institutional leaders alike They assert that these interested parties overlook the highly problematic internal logic of ranking methodologies even as they obsess over the surveys assessment of their status The result is that institutions suffer from short termism realigning their resources to maximize their relative rankings While rankings are widely used in policy and academic discussions this is the first book to explore the theoretical and methodological issues of ranking itself It is a welcome contribution to an often highly charged debate Far from showing how to manipulate the system this collection of work by key researchers aims to enlighten interested parties School Choice and Competition: Markets in the Public Interest? Philip Woods, Carl Bagley, Ron Glatter, 2005-06-23 This book offers a unique record of the realities of parental choice and competitive pressures on schools On the basis of research involving thousands of parents and eleven secondary schools monitored over several years it sets out empirical findings on parents preferences and experience of choice how schools respond to competitive pressures and local dynamics of quasi markets theoretical implications for understanding quasi markets in education and the public interest implications for educational policy if schools are to be more responsive and inequalities lessened The book provides insights into whether pressures for choice and diversity are in the greater public interest or if they benefit only the few and suggests a notion of the public market as a model for analysing public services

Institutionalization of World-Class University in Global Competition Jung Cheol Shin, Barbara M. Kehm, 2012-11-27

Moving the academic debate on from its current focus on development to a more nuanced sociological perspective this fresh research is a collaboration between academics in South Korea and Germany that assesses the factors shaping world class universities as institutional social systems as well as national cultural treasures The work explores in detail how WCUs have moved to a central position in policy circles and how these often ambitious government policies on WCUs have been interpreted and adopted by university administrators and individual professors The authors provide a wealth of empirical data on universities both world class and aiming for WCU status in a range of polities and continents They compare strategies for developing WCUs in countries of the East and the West both developing and developed Nations featured in the statistical purview include nine countries Germany France Japan South Korea China Taiwan Malaysia Singapore and Hong Kong SAR The volume goes further than merely taking a snapshot of the current situation offering detailed and considered strategies and rationales for institutionalizing and developing WCUs particularly in Asian countries where Confucian cultural influences accord education the highest priority
