Perspectives On Negotiation Four Case Studies And Interpretations:

Perspectives on Negotiation Diane B. Bendahmane, John W. McDonald, 1986 John W. Burton: A Pioneer in Conflict Analysis and Resolution David J. Dunn, Hans Günter Brauch, Pamela Burton, 2024-04-26 This book charts John W Burton's transition from practitioner in diplomacy to pioneer in the theory of peace research thinking on world society and conflict resolution Born in 1915 given his father's name it was assumed that he would follow his father and become a Christian missionary He did not he joined the Australian Public Service From a junior position he rose rapidly He was forthright and some found him irritating or worse He progressed to the highest levels of policy making Amidst some controversy he resigned abruptly in 1951 He then worked on his farm outside Canberra writing avidly He did not intend to become an academic but in 1963 he was offered a position in International Relations at University College in London and he accepted He was key to the foundation of the International Peace Research Association IPRA in 1964 and of the Conflict Research Society in the UK because he thought that words and ideas were not enough there needed to be instruments of change Looking back he was in fact a secular missionary His aim Simple to change the world This book is an exploration of how conflict should be reinterpreted The ideas of his work are a product not of any metaphysical approach but of experience Burton knew the field Cold War diplomacy civil strife reforming organisations resistance to change He had been there and he found much to criticise This book illustrates what he had to offer and explains why These readings reveal shifts in his ideas cohering incrementally integrated into a new framework This book presents his pioneering and relevant work Transcending disciplinary boundaries it will be of interest to students as well as professionals who address conflict at all levels of society from family to state

The Multiple Realities of International Mediation Marieke Kleiboer, 1998 Recent experiences have demonstrated once again the complexities of brokering an end to deep rooted ethnic and international conflicts as well as the difficulties of evaluating the outcomes of third party interventions Addressing these issues this book offers a sophisticated approach to assessing mediation efforts and to reconstructing and interpreting mediation processes

Perspectives on Negotiation Diane B. Bendahmane, John W. McDonald, 1986 Doing Research Daniel Druckman, 2005-03-16 Winner of the 2006 outstanding book award for books published in 2004 2005 from the International Association for Conflict Management at their annual meeting held in Montreal An award winning book Doing Research is a must read Designed for students across a variety of social science disciplines it is the first research methods text devoted to conflict analysis and resolution It begins with a discussion of the philosophical foundations for doing research providing guidelines on how to develop research questions and how these questions can be addressed with various methodologies The book presents a wide ranging treatment of both quantitative and qualitative approaches to the design and analysis of problems of conflict The approaches covered include experiments simulations and models surveys single and comparative case studies ethnographies content analysis narrative analysis evaluation research action research and research consulting

These approaches come alive in a variety of applications culled from the published literature. A concluding chapter provides an integration of the various methodologies including their complementary strengths. Throughout the book, author Daniel Druckman illustrates the value of a multi-method approach to doing research on conflict analysis and more generally across the social sciences. Key Features: Guides readers through how to do literature reviews and ask research questions, easing students into the research process. Weaves together qualitative and quantitative as well as deductive and inductive approaches to analysis, allowing for the widest possible diversity in methodology. Includes numerous examples from published articles and dissertations and a discussion of research consulting. Doing Research is perfectly suited as a text for research methods courses across the social sciences, especially those dealing with conflict analysis in departments of political science, communication, psychology, sociology, and management. Professional researchers and consultants will also want to add this book to their libraries for guidance on multi-method techniques. This is an extremely important book for our field because it is the first research methods book that focuses on techniques that are common in this area but transcends disciplines. I am confident that the book will be used widely in our field because it is both practical and engaging. William A. Donohoe, Michigan State University. Doing Research is a gem. It provides multiple research methods and models focusing on conflict analysis and resolution that can be used by any student in a variety of social science disciplines or fields of study. I wish this book had been written 20 years ago. Brian Polkinghorn, Salisbury State University. Doing Research is the most widely acclaimed book on research methods for conflict resolution students to appear in recent years. The book provides a wonderfully rich array of ideas about ways to do research for both the scholar and practitioner, enriching the analysis and practice in the conflict resolution field. The author has a diverse intellectual background and his wide-ranging research experience informs the contributions made by this book to conflict analysis and resolution and to related social science fields. Sean Byrne, University of Manitoba. Culture and International Conflict Resolution Tarja Vayrynen, 2001-12-07. The book will be of interest to students of conflict and peace studies, both advanced undergraduate and postgraduate, as well as students of International Relations studying conflict resolution. Jacket Guerrilla Veterans in Post-war Zimbabwe Norma J. Kriger, 2003-05-29. Zimbabwe's guerrilla veterans have burst into the international media as the storm troopers in Mugabe's new war of economic liberation. In this book, Norma Kriger gives the unfolding contemporary drama a historical background and shows continuities between the present and past. Between 1980 and 1987, guerrilla veterans and the ruling party colluded with and manipulated each other to build power and privilege in the army, police bureaucracy, and among workers. Both relied chiefly on violence and appeals to their participation in the anti-colonial liberation war as they sought to vanquish their then political opponents. Today, violence and a liberation war discourse continue to be salient as Mugabe's party and its guerrilla veterans struggle to maintain power through land invasions and purges of a new political opposition. This study gives a critical review of guerrilla programs and the war-to-peace transitions literatures, thus changing the way we view post
