Workshop Writing for Early Adolescents with Insights to "shelving Time" Prior to Conscious Revision Margie Emberley Stone, 1991

Composition, Rhetoric, and Disciplinarity Rita Malenczyk, Susan Miller-Cochran, Elizabeth Wardle, Kathleen Yancey, 2018-04-02 Edited by four nationally recognized leaders of composition scholarship Composition Rhetoric and Disciplinarity asks a fundamental question can Composition and Rhetoric as a discipline continue its historical commitment to pedagogy without sacrificing equal attention to other areas such as research and theory In response contributors to the volume address disagreements about what it means to be called a discipline rather than a profession or a field elucidate tensions over the defined breadth of Composition and Rhetoric and consider the roles of research and responsibility as Composition and Rhetoric shifts from field to discipline Outlining a field with a complex and unusual formation story Composition Rhetoric and Disciplinarity employs several lenses for understanding disciplinarity theory history labor and pedagogy and for teasing out the implications of disciplinarity for students faculty institutions and Composition and Rhetoric itself Collectively the chapters speak to the intellectual and embodied history leading to this point to questions about how disciplinarity is and might be understood especially with regard to Composition and Rhetoric to the curricular conceptual labor and other sites of tension inherent in thinking about Composition and Rhetoric as a discipline and to the implications of Composition and Rhetoric s disciplinarity for the future Contributors Linda Adler Kassner Elizabeth H Boquet Christiane Donahue Whitney Douglas Doug Downs Heidi Estrem Kristine Hansen Doug Hesse Sandra Jamieson Neal Lerner Jennifer Helene Maher Barry Maid Jaime Armin Mej a Carolyn R Miller Kelly Myers Gwendolynne Reid Liane Robertson Rochelle Rodrigo Dawn Shepherd Kara Taczak

The Practice of Theory Ruth E. Ray, 1993 This book offers teachers a convenient means of broadening their understanding of various kinds of composition theory and the steadily emerging field of teacher research by high school and college instructors The book is designed to arouse individual teachers interest in composition theory and encourage them to learn about and participate in teacher research The book covers the various branches of teacher research and the key ideas of its many proponents Individual chapters include 1 The Move toward Theory in Composition 2 Theory and Practice from a Feminist Perspective 3 The Argument for Teacher Research 4 Comprehension from Within K 12 Teacher Research and the Construction of Knowledge 5 Contextual Constraints on Knowledge Making Graduate Student Teacher Research and 6 Toward a Teacher Research Approach to Graduate Studies An interview with National Writing Project Teacher Researchers along with a sample syllabus for a graduate course in composition theory are appended HB

Theories and Methods of Writing Center Studies Jo Mackiewicz, Rebecca Babcock, 2019-11-01 This collection helps students and researchers understand the foundations of writing center studies in order to make sound decisions about the types of methods and theoretical lenses that will help them formulate and answer their research questions In the collection accomplished writing center researchers discuss the theories and methods that have enabled their work providing readers with a useful and accessible guide to developing research projects that interest them and make a positive contribution It introduces an array of theories including genre theory second language acquisition theory transfer theory and disability theory and guides novice and experienced researchers through the finer points of methods such as ethnography corpus analysis and mixed methods research Ideal for courses on writing center studies and pedagogy it is essential reading for researchers and administrators in writing centers and writing across the curriculum or writing in the disciplines programs

L2 Writing Beyond English Nur Yiğitoğlu Aptoula, Melinda Reichelt, 2019-04-10 Most of what we know about writing in a second or foreign language L2 is based on conclusions drawn from research on L2 writing in English However a significant quantity of L2 writing and writing instruction takes place in languages other than English and so there is a need for studies that look beyond English The chapters in this book focus on languages other than English and investigate curricular issues multiple languages in contact conflict in L2 writing instruction and student attitudes toward pedagogical practices The collection as a whole makes a valuable contribution to the study of L2 writing and it will also prove an essential resource for instructors of second and foreign language writing Thinking Creative Writing Graeme Harper, 2020-06-29 Thinking Creative Writing explores the many ways in which creative writing can be critically considered and understood as well as the teaching and learning of creative writing Featuring thematic ideas and practice orientated thoughts such as those related to the value of distraction when undertaking creative work the book also presents contemporary work in the field of what is termed Creative Writing Studies and offers an analysis of doctoral research on Creative Writing Additionally the book includes reports on cultural and heritage studies of creative writing as a practice in relation to the literature it brings about and the audiences it engages Thinking Creative Writing presents a snapshot of contemporary work in and around departments of creative writing in our universities and colleges It will be of interest to those researching in the field as well as those with a broader interest in writing creatively The chapters in this book were originally published as articles in the New Writing journal

Insights in synthetic biology 2021: Novel developments, current challenges, and future perspectives Jean Marie François, Shota Atsumi, 2023-05-05 Biofilms from a Food Microbiology Perspective: Structures, Functions and Control Strategies Avelino Alvarez-Ordóñez, Romain Briandet, 2017-03-17 Materials and equipment in food processing industries are colonized by surface associated microbial communities called biofilms In these biostructures microorganisms are embedded in a complex organic matrix composed essentially of polysaccharides nucleic acids and proteins This organic shield contributes to the mechanical biofilm cohesion and triggers tolerance to environmental stresses such as dehydration or nutrient deprivation. Notably, cells within a biofilm are more tolerant to sanitation processes and the action of antimicrobial agents than their free living or planktonic counterparts. Such properties make conventional cleaning and disinfection protocols normally not effective in eradicating these biocontaminants. Biofilms are thus a continuous source of persistent microorganisms including spoilage and pathogenic microorganisms leading to repeated contamination of processed food with important economic and safety impact. Alternatively, in some particular settings, biofilm formation by resident or technological microorganisms can be desirable due to possible enhancement of food fermentations or as a means of bioprotection against the settlement of pathogenic microorganisms. In the last decades, substantial research efforts have been devoted to unravelling mechanisms of biofilm formation, deciphering biofilm architecture and understanding microbial interactions within those ecosystems. However, biofilms present a high level of complexity and many aspects remain yet to be fully understood. A lot of attention has been also paid to the development of novel strategies for preventing or controlling biofilm formation in industrial settings. Further research needs to be focused on the identification of new biocides effective against biofilm-associated microorganisms, the development of control strategies based on the inhibition of cell-to-cell communication and the potential use of bacteriocins, bacteriocin-producing bacteria, phage and natural antimicrobials as anti-biofilm agents, among others. This Research Topic aims to provide an avenue for dissemination of recent advances within the biofilms field, from novel knowledge on mechanisms of biofilm formation and biofilm architecture to novel strategies for biofilm control in food industrial settings.

Biological Contaminants of Concern in Water and Wastewater: An Environmental Health Perspective Visva Bharati Barua, Roshan Prabhakar, Divya Pal, Vivek Pulikkal, Isaac Dennis Amoah, 2025-06-03. Biological contaminants in water and wastewater are one of the chief health hazards linked with global environmental health. A slew of health and environmental hazards associated with these contaminants are chronic, recalcitrant, and bioaccumulative. Increasing biological contaminants in the water and wastewater calls for a need to assess the risks associated with the contaminants, identify the source, monitor, analyze the toxicity, treat, and incorporate safety standards for improved environmental health. Hence, developing robust analytical and effective treatment technologies is vital to managing these contaminants in water and wastewater. This Research Topic covers a broad range of biological contaminants, including but not limited to viruses, algae, bacteria, antibiotic-resistant genes, parasites, and algal toxins that are known to affect public health and the environment adversely. The focus will be on the source, occurrence, analysis, toxicity, fate, treatment, environmental health impacts, and safety standards of these biological contaminants.

Marine Ecosystem Assessment for the Southern Ocean: Meeting the Challenge for Conserving Earth

Ecosystems in the Long Term Monica M. C. Muelbert, 2024-12-24 National and international agencies need assessments of change in ecosystems and their drivers in order to sustain natural systems to maintain the delivery of services and to meet the challenge for conserving Earth ecosystems in the long term In marine systems change may arise directly from human activities e g fisheries indirectly from local or global activities cascading effects through food webs from fisheries or changing environments from climate change and or ocean acidification or from naturally varying processes A particular challenge for managers is to identify how dangerous future climate change will be for ecosystems and their services and whether mitigation or adaptation may be needed in advance in order to achieve the conservation requirements For regions of international attention particularly those that have the attention of many management or policy oriented bodies a standardized process is needed to harmonize the scientific information on the status and trends in ecosystems used by the different bodies That process also needs to ensure the information is available in a timely manner For example assessments of change in habitats species and or food webs in the Southern Ocean are currently compiled separately for at least ten different international organizations or processes A Marine Ecosystem Assessment for the Southern Ocean MEASO aims to harmonize that information for policy makers This assessment began with an international conference in April 2018 <http://www.measo2018.aq> where it was agreed to undertake the first MEASO over 2018 2019 with the view to provide the outcomes to relevant bodies such as the Scientific Committee for the Conservation of Antarctic Marine Living Resources soon after
