As Persuasion is Austen's last completed novel it is accepted as her most maturely written novel showing a refinement of literary conception indicative of a woman approaching forty years of age. Unlike Sense and Sensibility and Pride and Prejudice the novel Persuasion was not rewritten from earlier drafts of novels which Austen had originally started before 1800. Her use of free indirect discourse in narrative was by 1816 fully developed and in full evidence. The first edition of Persuasion was co-published with the previously unpublished Northanger Abbey written in 1803; later editions of both were published separately. Popular acceptance of the novel was reflected by two notable made-for-television filmed adaptations released first in Britain: Amanda Root starred in the lead role in the 1995 version co-starring Ciarán Hinds and was followed by Sally Hawkins in the 2007 version made for ITV1 co-starring Rupert Penry Jones.

The novel was well received in the early 19th century. Greater fame came later in the century, continued in the 20th century and through to the 21st century.
