Perspectives On Human Communication:

Perspectives on Human Communication Billie J. Wahlstrom, 1992 Perspectives on Human Communication B. Aubrey Fisher, 1978 Perspectives on Human Communication COSPAR, 1978 Fundamentals of Human Communication James C. McCroskey, Virginia P. Richmond, 1996 Non-Western Perspectives on Human Communication Min-Sun Kim, 2002-07-23

What it means to be a self and a self communicating and being in a particular culture are key issues interwoven throughout Min Sun Kim's impressive text Non Western Perspectives on Human Communication. Going beyond cultural descriptions or instructions on adapting to specific cultures, the author interrogates the very core assumptions underlying the study of human communication and challenges longstanding individualistic Western models on which much intercultural research is based. Kim proposes a non western way of conceptualizing identity or the self, the cornerstone of cultural research, illuminating how traditional western and non western views can be blended into a broader, more realistic understanding of cultures and communication. Grounding her work in a thorough knowledge of the literature, she challenges students and researchers alike to reexamine their approach to intercultural study. Features Interrogates embedded assumptions about the traditional Western study of human communication with stunning thought provoking insight. Illuminates issues surrounding culture and identity formation and challenges the reader to examine not only the study of human communication but its engagement in everyday life. Informs complex academic theory with stellar writing, poignant examples and careful analysis. Invites scholars and students to explore and integrate a long overdue multicultural perspective on human communication.

About the Author: Min Sun Kim, Ph.D., Michigan State University, is Professor in the Department of Speech at the University of Hawaii at Manoa. Her research focus is the role of cognition in conversational styles among people of different cultural orientations.
