Sorensen

Pet Loss And Human Bereavement:

Pet Loss and Human Bereavement William J. Kay, 1984 Pet Loss and Human Emotion Cheri Barton Ross, Jane Baron-Sorensen, 1998 This updated edition of Pet Loss and Human Emotion is a step by step guide to leading clients through this special kind of grief. Includes resources and a section on pet loss and natural disasters. As society accepts that grieving over the death of a loved one is not only normal but healthy and necessary, grieving over the loss of a pet is often seen differently. Expressed feelings often go unvalidated when in truth pet loss is a unique form of grief that can be quite intense and debilitating, increasing an individual's vulnerability to subsequent stress and leaving them feeling isolated and misunderstood. Pet loss needs to be addressed by therapists and others in the helping professions to better enable them to help their clients through the loss of their companion animals. This unique guide is written for all professionals helping clients deal with the loss of a pet and serves as a practical introduction to the field of human animal bonding. Citing several case studies, it describes various techniques for helping clients when the bond with a pet is broken.

Pet Loss and Human Bereavement William J. Kay, 1984 Pet Loss and Human Emotion Cheri Barton Ross, Jane Baron-Sorensen, 2007 Whatever the reason that compels a client to seek therapy, the initial intake interview should include a question or two about the presence of companion animals in the home.

Pet Death Sandra Helene Straub, 2019-06-04 In Pet Death Dr. Straub addresses issues and feelings commonly encountered after the death of a pet. Practical guidelines are provided for coping with feelings of loss and sorrow. Many questions arise from the difficult topic of euthanasia, and in this book the medical aspect of this procedure is explained in plain language. Are your other pets grieving? Should I get another pet right away? Are there other questions addressed? Dr. Straub and others openly share their personal accounts of pet loss.

Human Grief on the Death of a Pet, 2000 ‘Tote begraben und Trauernde trösten’ Julia Cornelia Olejnik, 2016-11-21 Heimtiere vor allem Katzen und Hunde, aber auch Pferde, sind zu Familienmitgliedern geworden, deren Tod bei ihren menschlichen Angehörigen zu großer Trauer führt. Gestorbene Heimtiere finden immer seltener den Weg in eine Tierkörperverwertungsanlage, ganz im Gegenteil: sie werden ähnlich wie Menschen bestattet. Rund um das Thema Tierbestattung hat sich in den letzten Jahrzehnten eine Dienstleistungsbranche mit steigender Nachfrage gebildet. Die Anforderungen an Tierärzte verändern sich parallel mit dem Wandel der Mensch-Tier-Beziehung. Für Tierbesitzer sind Tierärzte Ansprechpartner in vielfältigen und nicht nur medizinischen Belangen geworden. Insbesondere wenn sich das Ende des Lebens eines Tieres abzuzeichnen beginnt, erwarten Tierbesitzer fachliche Informationen und einfühlsamen Beistand nicht nur für den Todesfall des Tieres, sondern auch hinsichtlich der Bestattungsmodalitäten und in der Trauerphase. Ist die Bestattung von Tieren wirklich ein Phänomen unserer Zeit? Muss die Trauer um ein Tier ernst genommen werden? Und wenn ja, welche Ansprüche resultieren daraus an die tierärztliche Arbeit? Werden Tierärzte auf diesen Aspekt ihrer Arbeit in der Ausbildung vorbereitet? Wie wird mit diesem Thema which to consider the unique contextual backdrop of the human animal bond. Such contexts include a wide array of themes including issues of attachment and loss, success and frustration with making and sustaining connections, world views regarding animal ethics, familial history of neglect or abuse, and cultural dynamics that speak to the order of things between mankind and nature. Adopting a contextual stance will aid mental health professionals in appreciating why and how this connection has become a significant part of everyday life for many. As with any other important clinical dynamic, training and preparation are needed to gain competence for professional practice and research. To this end, an ensemble of international experts across the fields of psychology and mental health explore topics that will help both new and established clinicians increase understanding of the various ways the human animal bond manifests itself. Perspectives from beyond the scope of psychology and mental health, such as anthropology, philosophy, literature, religion, and history, are included to provide a sampling of the significant contexts in which the human animal bond is established. What brings these divergent topics together in a meaningful way is their relevance and centrality to the contextual bonds that underlie the human animal connection. This text will be a valuable resource that provides opportunities to deepen one's expertise in understanding the psychology of the human animal bond.

Pet Loss, Grief, and Therapeutic Interventions Lori Kogan, Phyllis Erdman, 2019-08-13
This book recognizes and legitimizes the significance of pet and animal loss by exploring the various expressions of trauma and grief experienced by those who work with, live with, or own an animal or pet. The chapters of Pet Loss, Grief, and Therapeutic Interventions weave together cutting-edge research with best practices and practical clinical advice for working with grieving clients. Beginning with an overview of the human animal bond, the book guides readers through the many facets of pet loss, including topics such as animal hospice and euthanasia, offering a comprehensive account of one of the field's most rapidly emerging areas. Designed to help mental health professionals support clients coping with pet loss, the collection explores personal narratives, current theories, up-to-date research, and future directions. This unique and comprehensive book will be of interest to students, clinicians, and academicians.
