Selected Poems By Kim Namjo:

Selected Poems of Kim Namjo Nam-jo Kim, 1993 A generous selection of poems by one of Korea's most honored and highly regarded poets Kim Namjo published her first book of poems Life Moksum in 1953 In the years since then in another ten collections of poems she has explored in her books an intensely experienced religious faith and a passionate affirmation of life This is the first collection of poems by a Korean woman writer to be published in English language translation The Oxford Guide to Literature in English Translation Peter France, 2000 This guide highlights the place of translation in our culture encouraging awareness of the process of translating and the choices involved making the translator more visible Concentrating on major writers and works it covers translations out of many languages from Greek to Hungarian Korean to Turkish For some works e.g. Virgil's Aeneid which have been much translated the discussion is historical and critical showing how translation has evolved over the centuries and bringing out the differences between versions Elsewhere with less familiar literatures the Guide examines the extent to which translation has done justice to the range of work available

Silvery World and Other Stories Michael J. Pettid, 2019-01-31 This anthology is an exciting new collection of Korean fiction in translation from the early years of the twentieth century that demonstrate the political and ideological divides that Koreans experienced during this time The Princeton Encyclopedia of Poetry and Poetics Roland Greene, Stephen Cushman, Clare Cavanagh, Jahan Ramazani, Paul Rouzer, Harris Feinsod, David Marno, Alexandra Slessarev, 2012-08-26 Rev ed of The Princeton encyclopedia of poetry and poetics Alex Preminger and T V F Brogan co editors Frank J Warnke O B Hardison Jr and Earl Miner associate editors 1993 Reorienting the Manchus Pei Huang, 2011-02-28 Making extensive use of Chinese Japanese Manchu and Western sources the author adopts a historical multifaceted approach to explore the various forces geography economics frontier contacts political and social institutions language literature and art religion and Confucianism that made possible the Manchu adoption of Chinese ways of life Chinese Walls in Time and Space Roger Des Forges, Minglu Gao, Chiao-mei Liu, Haun Saussy, 2010-03-31 Are walls remnants of ancient and medieval societies destined to become anachronistic in modern and post modern times Or will they persist shaping as well as adjusting to new conditions Do walls necessarily constrain and even isolate those who live within them or can they act as a medium of support and communication for people on both sides This volume addresses these questions Authors from six disciplines history art law medicine communication and film provide multiple perspectives on various kinds of walls material ones around and within states cities and towns as well as virtual ones regulating the administration of justice the flow of pathogens and the transmission of information Making Law Work Mattias Burell, Marina Svensson, 2011-04-30 By studying law implementation in different areas and at different levels contributors from various disciplines give a nuanced picture of law implementation in China showing that it is rare to find examples of complete success or failure Instead making law work in actual practice and in any society is a matter of degree The study is multidisciplinary in character and builds on insights from both sociology of law and political science 本能的 Ben no Naishi, 2005 Ben no Naishi 1228-1270 a descendant of a literary branch of the Fujiwara family created an innovative poetic account focusing on her public personae as a naishi serving at the court of Go-Fukakusa r. 1246-1259. Traditional scholarship regards Ben no Naishi Nikki as a naive record of court minutiae written without any literary purpose but Ben no Naishi's text is constructed consciously by her devotion to sacred and secular duties as naishi female courtiers who as guardians of the royal regalia the Mirror, the Sword and the Jewels played vital roles in rites that legitimized and perpetuated the rule of the royal family. This translation-based study situates the text within the Nikki tradition, traces the cultivation of patronage relationships that led to Ben no Naishi's job at court, delineates the sacred and secular duties of naishi, explores the unique literary aspects of the work and reassesses Ben no Naishi's work as an innovative poetic record that subordinates the stance and contents to commemorating the reign of the royal family. The translation enhances the list of works available in English from the Kamakura literary canon. The Snow

Falling on Chagall's Village Ch'un-su Kim, Ch'un-su Kim, 1998 Kim Ch'un-su is one of the most original poets in modern Korean poetry. He was influenced by Rilke for a while but embarked on a series of his own poetic experiments culminating in what he calls the poetry of meaning. An avowed purist, he would not believe in ideas, ideologies or even history. His poems in consequence tend to present only moments of vivid sensations and fantasies refracted through his consciousness. Kim has won the Modern Korean Literature Translation Award and the Poetry Prize in Korea. This volume contains a selection of all the phases of Kim Ch'un-su made in terms of communicability and presentability. The Sound of My Waves Ūn Ko, 1993

Informal Empire in Crisis Martyn Atkins, 1995 The Inspector General of the Chinese Maritime Customs Service was without doubt the highest ranking foreigner in the Chinese Government. His position at the heart of China's fiscal, commercial and mercantile systems was crucial to the continued prosperity of the foreign business community in Shanghai and elsewhere. This work draws on unpublished British Foreign Office records and other contemporary sources to support its examination of the issues surrounding the appointment of a new Inspector General in 1928 and the bitterness and intrigue which these issues engendered. The underlying debate between the British Legation in Peking and the Foreign Office in London illustrates the dilemma of a diplomatic establishment no longer able to rely upon the use of force to defend British interests in China.

The Prophet and Other Stories Ch'ŏng-jun Yi, 1999 Yi Ch'ng Jun was born in 1939 and graduated from the department of German language and literature at Seoul National University in 1966. He has long been recognized as one of Korea's most prolific and demanding authors. Since his debut in 1965 he has enjoyed consistent critical and commercial success. His characters are ordinary people: writers, farmers, photographers and artisans, all struggling to survive in an increasingly materialistic and complicated society. They search for life's significance in the whirlwind change of modern Korea only to discover that the answers to their questions run deep beneath the surface of reality. This collection provides a cross section of Yi's work beginning with the haunting novella The Falconer 1968 and ending with The Fire Worshipers which won the National Literary Award from the Korean Culture and Arts Foundation in 1986

Charisma and Community

Formation in Medieval Japan Sybil Anne Thornton, 1999 The Yugyo ha achieved success by basing its religious authority on a combination of Pure Land mysticism and the practices of fundraising hijiri Between 1300 and 1700 the Pure Land Buddhist religious order known as the Ippen school Yugyo ha later the Jishu established itself as the leading representative of nembutsu propagation in Japan The theme of the order s history is the development of religious authority as a result of the struggle to normalize relations among the official head sometimes obstreperous religious and often interfering usually warrior lay patrons This study demonstrates the value of the articulation in organizational studies of Weber s concept of charisma as a successful social relationship as well as that of a chosen career determined by culture and tradition Indeed the success of the Yugyo ha was due to its ability to seize on the advantages of combining the principles and practices of two existing traditions Pure Land mysticism and the fundraising hijiri movement

Total War and 'modernization' Yasushi Yamanouchi, J. Victor Koschmann, Ryūichi Narita, 1998 A product of international collaborative research this collection of essays by scholars from Japan North America and Europe illuminates the many important ways in which mobilization for total war in the 1930s and early 1940s laid the foundation for postwar democracy The essays all but two of which focus primarily on the Japanese case analyze intellectual political and socioeconomic processes that extend from the 1930s down as far as the 1970s and suggest that in this era not only Japan but Germany the U S and other advanced industrial nations formed system societies characterized by rationalization mobilization and high levels of social integration and control

Description and Explanation in Korean Linguistics Ross King, 1998 This volume brings together fifteen new papers on Korean linguistics originally presented at the Ninth International Conference on Korean Linguistics 1994 Contributions range from phonetics and phonology to syntax and grammaticalization and address important theoretical issues from a wide variety of formal frameworks The volume contains new research by established scholars like Gregory Iverson Young key Kim Renaud Susumu Kuno and Joan Maling as well as papers by relative newcomers to the field Sung ock Sohn Jae Hoon Yeon Mark Vincent Chang Bong Lee and Yoon suk Chung The papers in this volume will be of interest to students and researchers in both general linguistics and Korean language and linguistics

Kitahara Hakushu Margaret Benton Fukasawa, 1993 The first full length work in English on Kitahara Hakushu 1885 1942 a leading poet of modern Japan In addition to a thorough recounting of the poet s life and times the author provides numerous translations of Hakushu s poems and excerpts from his critical theories Essential for any student of modern Japanese literature

Strange Tales from Strange Lands Wanlong Zheng, 1993 A powerful depiction of the tensions generated by conflicts of sexuality and ethnicity in contemporary China These tensions evolved partly from the sense of estrangement from Chinese culture felt by many in the post Mao era As a means to understanding this crisis some of the best writers in the 1980s sought the roots of Chinese civilization often in strange lands inhabited by minority tribes

Poverty and Growth in a South China County Thomas P. Lyons, 1994 One of the first detailed studies of a local economy in the PRC this book traces the development of a poverty stricken county through the Maoist era and the first fifteen years of the post Mao reforms showing how central and provincial policy impinged upon the county and how local decision makers responded to changing opportunities Principles of Poetry 詩の原理,1998 This work comprises the first complete English translation of Shi no Genri one of the most important attempts at a theory of literature written in the modern period Hagiwara Sakutarō 1886-1942 was not only an original poet but also a perceptive and lonely literary critic This book in his own words is not a collection of fragmentary writings but a thoroughly systematic and organized discourse on poetry and other related arts He sees the future of Japanese poetry as being tied to the characteristics of Japanese language and even to the destiny of Japan Asian Studies Newsletter ,1993
