Method as Identity Christopher M. Driscoll, Monica R. Miller, 2020-07-02 Method as Identity Manufacturing Distance in the Academic Study of Religion emphasizes the inexorable influence that social identities exert in shaping methodological choices within the academic study of religion as witnessed in sui generis appeals to particularity and reliance on or rejection of identity based standpoints Can data speak back and if so would scholars have ears to listen With a refreshing hip hop sensibility Miller and Driscoll argue that what cultural theorist Jean Fran ois Bayart refers to as a battle for identity forces a necessary confrontation with the impact of social identities and their histories haunting our fields of study These complex categorical specters make it nearly impossible to untether the categories of identity that we come to study from the identity of categories shaping our methodological lenses Treating method as an identity revealing technique of distance making between the proper scholar and the less than scholarly advocate for religion Miller and Driscoll examine a variety of discursive milieus of vagueness consider for instance essentialism origins authenticity at work in the contemporary discussion of critical methods that lack the necessary specificity for doing the heavy lifting of analytically handling the asymmetrical dimensions of power part and parcel to social identification Through interdisciplinary discussions that draw on thinkers including Charles H Long Bruce Lincoln Russell T McCutcheon Theodor Adorno Jacques Derrida C Wright Mills Laurel C Schneider William D Hart Tomoko Masuzawa Anthony B Pinn bell hooks Roderick Ferguson John L Jackson Jasbir Puar and Jean Fran ois Bayart among others Method as Identity intentionally blurs the lines classifying proper scholarly approach and proper objects of study With an intentional effort to challenge the de facto disciplinary segregation marking the field and study of religion today Method as Identity will be of interest to scholars involved in discussions about theory and method for the study of religion and especially researchers working at the intersections of identity difference and classification and the politics thereof Introduction to New and Alternative Religions in America William M.
