The End of China's Non-Intervention Policy in Africa Obert Hodzi, 2018-10-22 This book gives a compelling analysis and explanation of shifts in China's non intervention policy in Africa Systematically connecting the neoclassical realist theoretical logic with an empirical analysis of China's intervention in African civil wars the volume highlights a methodical interlink between theoretical and empirical analysis that takes into consideration the changing status of rising powers in the global system and its effect on their intervention behaviour Based on field research and expert interviews it provides a rigorous analysis of China's emergent intervention behaviour in some key African conflicts in Libya South Sudan and Mali and broadens the study of external interventions in civil wars to include the intervention behaviour of non Western rising powers Obert Hodzi is Visiting Researcher at the African Studies Center Boston University USA and Postdoctoral Researcher at the University of Helsinki Finland Chinese Nationalism in the Global Era Christopher R. Hughes, 2006-04-07 Presenting an analysis of the tension between nationalism and globalization in China since the beginning of the reform and opening period in the late 1970s to the present day this book makes a unique contribution to the on going debate on the nature of Chinese nationalism It shows how nationalism is used to link together key areas of policy making including economic policy national unification and foreign policy Hughes provides historical context to the debate by examining how nationalism became incorporated into the ideology of the Chinese Communist Party in the 1980s and the ways in which this strengthened and combined with globalization discourse through the domestic crisis of the Tiananmen Massacre and the external shock of the Cold War's conclusion The different perspectives towards this resulting orthodoxy are discussed including those of the state and dissent in mainland China and the alternative views from Taiwan and Hong Kong Based on Chinese sources throughout this book offers a systematic treatment of Chinese nationalism providing conceptual insights that allow the reader to grasp the complex weave of Chinese nationalist sentiment today and its implications for the future Strategy in Space Stacey Solomone, 2013-06-12 This book addresses why China is going into space and provides up to date information on all aspects of the Chinese Space Program in terms of launch vehicles launch sites and infrastructure crew vehicles for space exploration satellite applications and scientific exploration capabilities Beyond mere capabilities it is important to understand how Chinese aerospace leaders think how they make decisions and what their ultimate goal is during their space endeavors What are Chinese intentions in space To what extent does culture and ethics influence Chinese strategic decision making within the highest levels of the aerospace industrial complex This book examines these questions and offers four potential scenarios on where the Chinese space program is headed based on this new perspective of understanding China's space goals This book is not only required reading for policy makers and military leaders in the US government but also for the general population students and professionals interested in truly understanding the reasons behind what the Chinese are doing in space China's Military Procurement in the Reform Era Yoram Evron, 2015-06-26

The decisions that shape the policy of weapons procurement are an important area of national security policy This is all the more true for China which during recent decades has vacillated between different sources and directions of military build up This book explores the politics of military procurement in China under the successive leaderships of Deng Xiaoping Jiang Zemin and Hu Jintao It shows how China's political and military leaders have sought to adjust military procurement policy to meet China's strategic objectives to relate it to non military needs to strike a balance between the import of weapons and indigenous production and to determine the connections between hardware and other components of military power Exploring in detail five major shifts in the nation's military procurement it traces the considerations and negotiations among China's civilian and military leaderships By doing so it offers both a conceptual framework and empirical grounds for evaluating the factors that shape China's military procurement directions as well as their limitations prospects and operational implications As the first book to study comprehensively and systematically the attributes shaping China's military procurement it will be of great interest to students and scholars of Chinese politics Chinese history and military and strategic Marxism and the Making of China J.
