The Self-made Map Tom Conley,1996 The self made map argues that during the Renaissance in France a new cartographic impulse affected both the graphic and imaginary forms of literature In this wide ranging and fascinating work Tom Conley demonstrates that as maps were plotted during this period a new sense of self emerged one defined in part by the relationship of the self to space Conley traces the explosion of interest in mapmaking that occurred with the discovery of the New World and discusses the commensurate rise of what he defines as cartographic writing writing that holds penetrates delineates and explores space Considering the works of such writers as Rabelais Montaigne and Descartes Conley provides a navigation through the printed page revealing the emerging values of Renaissance France Conley also exposes the ideological exercise inherent in mapmaking arguing that Renaissance cartography is inseparably bound up with the politics of the era He undertakes close readings of maps and illustrations discussing the necessity of viewing Renaissance maps in the context of their typographic layout graphic reproduction and literary and ideological import The Self-made Man

Karl Friedrich von Klöden,1876 Global Crusoe Ann Marie Fallon,2016-04-22 Global Crusoe travels across the twentieth century globe from a Native American reservation to a Botswanan village to explore the huge variety of contemporary incarnations of Daniel Defoe s intrepid character In her study of the novels poems short stories and films that adapt the Crusoe myth Ann Marie Fallon argues that the twentieth century Crusoe is not a lone struggling survivor but a cosmopolitan figure who serves as a warning against the dangers of individual isolation and colonial oppression Fallon uses feminist and postcolonial theory to reexamine Defoe s original novel and several contemporary texts showing how writers take up the traumatic narratives of Crusoe in response to the intensifying transnational and postcolonial experiences of the second half of the twentieth century Reading texts by authors such as Nadine Gordimer Bessie Head Derek Walcott Elizabeth Bishop and J M Coetzee within their social historical and political contexts Fallon shows how contemporary revisions of the novel reveal the tensions inherent in the transnational project as people and ideas move across borders with frequency if not necessarily with ease In the novel Robinson Crusoe Crusoe s discovery of Friday s footprint fills him with such anxiety that he feels the print like an animal and burrows into his shelter Likewise modern readers and writers continue to experience a deep anxiety when confronting the narrative issues at the center of Crusoe s story The Gospel in All Lands ,1892 The Map That

Changed the World Simon Winchester,2009-10-27 In 1793 British canal digger William Smith noticed that the rocks he was excavating were arranged in layers and that the fossils found in one layer were very different from those found in another Determined to create a map that would display this hidden underside of England he spent 20 years traveling the country and studying rock outcrops and fossils In 1815 Smith published his groundbreaking geological map But in a cruel twist of fate his work was plagiarized and he was soon in debtors prison Simon Winchester author of The Professor and the Madman tells the fascinating story of Smith s remarkable scientific achievement fall from grace and ultimate recognition as the father of
