Self Possession:

What Does It Mean to Grow Old? Thomas R. Cole, 1987-08 In What Does It Mean to Grow Old essayists come to grips as best they can with the phenomenon of an America that is about to become the Old Country They have been drawn from every relevant discipline gerontology social medicine politics health anthropology ethics law and asked to speak their mind Most of them write extremely well and their sharply individual voices are heard The Problem of the Idea of Culture in John Paul II John Corrigan, 2019-11-13 In The Problem of the Idea of Culture in John Paul II Exposing the Disruptive Agency of the Philosophy of Karol Wojtyla John Corrigan provides a new lens with which to view and understand the philosophy of Karol Wojtyla John Paul II He exposes Wojtyla as a major player in contemporary philosophical debates The work reformulates the problem of experience in light of the questions surrounding our idea of culture Corrigan argues that for Wojtyla the drama of the problem of experience manifests in the apparently divergent accounts of the meaning of human experience as presented by the philosophies of being and of consciousness Solving this conundrum results in an idea of the person capable of explaining human experience in relation to human culture unfolding the experiences of self knowledge conscience and the ontic causal relationship of the person to human culture The first part of the book concerns formal considerations regarding the constitutive aspects of Wojtyla s approach while the second part deals with pragmatic considerations drawn from his comments on culture The Genius of John Paul II Richard A. Spinello, 2006-11-08 In this exciting new book renowned ethicist Richard Spinello offers the first comprehensive presentation of the late John Paul II s great moral vision Here admirers may read and understand the essential teachings of the pope in his own words as Spinello draws on his extensive research into John Paul II s writings and talks Subjects covered include reverence for life concern for the poor and suffering moral law conscience moral choice intrinsically evil acts freedom and goodness The purpose of this book is two fold it not only persuasively presents the late pope s vital teachings but also defends them against his critics This important new work preserves and promotes the extraordinary legacy of John Paul II by focusing on his championing of universal human dignity and objective moral truths Making Contact Leston Havens, 1988-10-15 Since 1955 moving from early work in psychopharmacology to studies of clinical method and the psychiatric schools Leston Havens has been working toward a general theory of therapy It often seems that twentieth century psychiatry sect ridden is a Tower of Babel as Havens once characterized it This book is the distillation of long years of thought and practice a bold yet modest attempt to delineate an integrated psychotherapy The boldness of this effort lies in its author s willingness to recognize the best that each school has to offer to describe it cogently and to integrate it into a full response to today s new kind of patient Descriptive or medical psychiatry psychoanalysis interpersonal or behavioristic psychiatry empathic or existential therapy viewed in metaphors respectively of perceiving thinking managing feeling all have useful contributions to make to contemporary methods of treatment But how Havens s modest answer is through appropriate language and he demonstrates exactly what he means when to ask questions when to direct or draw back when to sympathize Practitioners now must deal with less dramatic but more stubborn problems of character and situation lack of purpose isolation submissiveness invasiveness deep yet vague dissatisfaction Some kind of human presence must be discovered in the patient and Havens gives concrete absorbing examples of ways of speaking to absence of making contact The emphasis is on verbal technique but the underlying broad humane intent is everywhere evident It is no less than to transform passivity by means of disciplined therapeutic concern into a state of being Human Melodramatic Tactics Elaine Hadley,1995 This pathbreaking work analyzes melodrama as not merely a theatrical genre but as a behavioral paradigm of the nineteenth century manifest in the theater in literature and in society It shows how the melodramatic mode reaffirmed the familial hierarchical and public grounds for ethical behavior and identity that characterized models of social exchange and organization Black Women's Yoga History Stephanie Y. Evans,2021-03-01 How have Black women elders managed stress In Black Women s Yoga History Stephanie Y Evans uses primary sources to answer that question and to show how meditation and yoga from eras of enslavement segregation and migration to the Civil Rights Black Power and New Age movements have been in existence all along Life writings by Harriet Jacobs Sadie and Bessie Delany Eartha Kitt Rosa Parks Jan Willis and Tina Turner are only a few examples of personal case studies that are included here illustrating how these women managed traumatic stress anxiety and depression In more than fifty yoga memoirs Black women discuss practices of reflection exercise movement stretching visualization and chanting for self care By unveiling the depth of a struggle for wellness memoirs offer lessons for those who also struggle to heal from personal cultural and structural violence This intellectual history expands conceptions of yoga and defines inner peace as mental health healing and wellness that is both compassionate and political Performance and Personhood in Caribbean Literature Jeannine Murray-Román,2016-01-11 Focusing on the literary representation of performance practices in anglophone francophone and hispanophone Caribbean literature Jeannine Murray Rom n shows how a shared regional aesthetic emerges from the descriptions of music dance and oral storytelling events Because the historical circumstances that led to the development of performance traditions supersede the geopolitical and linguistic divisions of colonialism the literary uses of these traditions resonate across the linguistic boundaries of the region The author thus identifies the aesthetic that emerges from the act of writing about live arts and moving bodies as a practice that is grounded in the historically geographically and culturally specific features of the Caribbean itself Working with twentieth and twenty first century sources ranging from theatrical works and novels to blogs Murray Rom n examines the ways in which writers such as Jacques Stephen Alexis Zo Vald s Rosario Ferr Patrick Chamoiseau and Marlon James experiment with textually compensating for the loss of the corporeality of live relationship in performance traditions Through their exploration of the interaction of literature and performance she argues Caribbean writers themselves offer a mode of bridging the disjunction between cultural and philosophical approaches within Caribbean studies Pictures and Progress Maurice O.

Wallace, Shawn Michelle Smith, 2012-06-19 Pictures and Progress explores how during the nineteenth century and the early twentieth prominent African American intellectuals and activists understood photography's power to shape perceptions about race and employed the new medium in their quest for social and political justice. They sought both to counter widely circulating racist imagery and to use self-representation as a means of empowerment. In this collection of essays, scholars from various disciplines consider figures including Frederick Douglass, Sojourner Truth, Ida B. Wells, Paul Laurence Dunbar, and W. E. B. Du Bois as important and innovative theorists and practitioners of photography. In addition, brief interpretive essays or snapshots highlight and analyze the work of four early African American photographers. Featuring more than seventy images, Pictures and Progress brings to light the wide-ranging practices of early African American photography as well as the effects of photography on racialized thinking.

Being Reconciled is a radical and entirely fresh theological treatment of the classic theory of the Gift in the context of divine reconciliation. It reconsiders notions of freedom and exchange in relation to a Christian doctrine which understands Creation, grace, and incarnation as heavenly gifts, but the Fall, evil, and violence as refusal of those gifts. In a sustained and rigorous response to the works of Derrida, Levinas, Marion, Žižek, Hauerwas, and the Radical Evil school, John Milbank posits the daring view that only transmission of the forgiveness offered by the Divine Humanity makes reconciliation possible on earth. Any philosophical understanding of forgiveness and redemption therefore requires theological completion. Both a critique of post-Kantian modernity and a new theology that engages with issues of language, culture, time, politics, and historicity, Being Reconciled insists on the dependency of all human production and understanding on a God who is infinite in both utterance and capacity. Intended as the first in a trilogy of books centred on the gift, this book is an original and vivid new application of a classic theory by a leading international theologian.
