Shabby Tiger Howard Spring, 1952 Muslim Women in Britain, 1850-1950 Sariya Cheruvallil-Contractor, Jamie Gilham, 2023-11-23 The history of British Islam and British Muslims is a growing area of interest among historians and the general public. But whilst Muslim women have featured in some research, their lives and experiences prior to the present day have remained obscure if not hidden in both academic and popular discussion. Uncovering Muslim women's experiences and contributions to society in past generations is essential for us to build a full picture of Muslim life in Britain then and now. This is the first book to address that gap, telling the stories of Muslim women who lived in Britain between the mid nineteenth and mid twentieth centuries, from Victorian times to the years immediately after the Second World War, just before immigration profoundly affected the size and composition of Britain's Muslim communities. It reveals a rich variety of experiences, including Muslim women who travelled to or away from Britain and many who converted to Islam within the British Isles. Underpinned by feminist historical approaches, this groundbreaking book aims to make women visible where they have been hidden from or within history. Its fascinating accounts will reinstate Muslim women as actors, storytellers and storymakers who have shaped the history of Britain and of British Islam. Shabby Tiger Howard Spring, 1963

Stonebridge, 2007-01-08 This collection of essays offers a wide ranging and provocative reassessment of the British novel's achievements after modernism. The book identifies continuities of preoccupation with national identity, historiography and the challenge to literary form presented by public and private violence that span the entire century. Die Profis Werner Schmitz, 2006 Foylibra, 1934 Issues for Feb 1933
