Renewable Resource Management for Forestry and Agriculture James Samuel Bethel, Martin Andrew Massengale, 1978-01-01 Renewable Resource Management for Forestry and Agriculture I. S. Bethel, 1978

Renewable Resource Management in Agriculture World Bank. Operations Evaluation Department, 1989 For more than two decades there has been growing concern over the environmental implications of development There is evidence that the mismanagement of renewable resources has been widespread as populations have increased and countries have tried to cope with the imperative need to promote economic growth This report analyzes the results of 355 agriculture and forestry projects in the tropics which have been completed Further it examines the findings in the case studies of 12 countries These countries represent the three principal tropical ecologic zones Specifically the report consists of six chapters Chapter 1 reviews the findings of PPARs PCRs and IERs on resource management issues Chapters 2 through 4 summarize the main findings of the 12 case studies of countries Chapter 5 examines the Bank's role in identifying and dealing with policy issues affecting resource management Chapter 6 discusses the opportunities and constraints that exist if the Bank is to address resource management issues more effectively National Environmental Policy Act Handbook United States. Bureau of Reclamation, 1990

Renewable Resource Management for Forestry and Agriculture James Samuel Bethel, Martin Andrew Massengale, 1978 Legal, Institutional, and Economic Indicators of Forest Conservation and Sustainable Management, 2005 This review looks at the Nation's legal institutional and economic capacity to promote forest conservation and sustainable resource management It focuses on 20 indicators of Criterion Seven of the so called Montreal Process and involves an extensive search and synthesis of information from a variety of sources It identifies ways to fill information gaps and improve the usefulness of several indicators It concludes that there is substantial information about the application of such capacities although that application is widely dispersed among agencies and private interests which in turn has led to differing interpretations of the indicators Individual chapters identify a need to further develop the conceptual foundation on which many of the indicators are predicated While many uncertainties in the type and accuracy of information are brought to light the review clearly indicates that legal institutional and economic capacities to promote sustainability are large and widely available in both the public and private sectors P vi Regulatory reform United States. White House Office of Intergovernmental Affairs, 1988 Introduction to Forests and Renewable Resources Chad P. Dawson, John C.

Hendee, 2019-10-24 The introductory course in natural resources is broader and more diverse than ever Today's students need to know how to manage forest wildlife watershed and range resources in a variety of environments and serving the needs of myriad stakeholders To that end Chad Dawson has built on the foundation established by him and the late John Hendee to bring Introduction to Forests and Renewable Resources thoroughly up to date The Ninth Edition has been reorganized to better address content for example policy and the differences between managing federal state and private land that applies to all resources While forests continue to be emphasized more coverage is provided to other resources and to achieving management goals for multiple resources when considering topics like fire and recreation Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,1988 Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications United States. Superintendent of Documents,1988 February issue includes Appendix entitled Directory of United States Government periodicals and subscription publications September issue includes List of depository libraries June and December issues include semiannual index Sustainable Resource Management and Resource Use F. J. Duijnhouwer,G. J. van der Meer,Harmen Verbruggen,1994 This book contains the papers presented during an expert meeting organized by the Advisory Council for Research on Nature and the Environment RMNO Dutch views were confronted with the views of international experts Renewable Resource Management in Development : from World Bank Experience in Agriculture and Forestry Ram K. Chopra,1988 Integrating Environment Into Agriculture and Forestry William R. Sutton,2008 The countries of Eastern Europe and Central Asia urgently need to accelerate the integration of environmental concerns into their agricultural and forestry sectors Policies and laws promoting integration have undoubtedly improved but implementation is lagging particularly in the east and in agriculture Integrating Environment into Agriculture and Forestry raises awareness of the pressing need to step up progress on implementation Failure to integrate environment into agriculture and forestry will have major economic and human health implications eg soil salinity in Uzbekistan is estimated to cost 1 billion per year while soil erosion is estimated to cost Moldova at least 40 million per year Agriculture and forestry are also highly sensitive to climate change and it is critical for the countries in the sub region to build awareness and the capacity to proactively integrate climate change adaptation into agriculture and forestry sector policies programs and investments These sectors contribute about 15 percent of GDP and support the 35% of the population who live in rural areas of the sub region Report recommendations include the imperative of using economic cost benefit analysis as a base for decision making scaling up of successful pilot projects and development and implementation of climate change risk management adaptation plans The report includes a companion CD ROM which contains 21 in depth reviews of Eastern European and Central Asian countries NEPA Deskbook ,1989 World Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Abstracts ,1995 Sustainable Development and Sustainable Agriculture ,1992 Subject Catalog Library of Congress,1981 Knowledge for Sustainable Development Unesco,2002 Land and Resource Planning in the National Forests Charles F.
