Representations In Archaeology:

Representations in Archaeology Jean-Claude Gardin,1992-01-01 Representations in Archaeology Jean-Claude Gardin, Agency in Archaeology Marcia-Anne Dobres,John Robb,2014-06-11 Agency in Archaeology is the first critical volume to scrutinise the concept of agency and to examine in depth its potential to inform our understanding of the past Theories of agency recognise that human beings make choices hold intentions and take action This offers archaeologists scope to move beyond looking at broad structural or environmental change and instead to consider the individual and the group Agency in Archaeology brings together nineteen internationally renowned scholars who have very different and often conflicting stances on the meaning and use of agency theory to archaeology The volume is composed of five theoretically based discussions and nine case studies drawing on regions from North America and Mesoamerica to Western and central Europe and ranging in subject from the late Pleistocene hunter gatherers to the restructuring of gender relations in the north eastern US Images, Representations and Heritage Ian Russell,2006-11-24 Recent archaeological theory has show that images of the past have carried a particularly strong resonance within modern social groups This volume explores the immeasurable impact that the phenomenon of archaeology has had on the representation of the past in the modern world Modern society s archaeological imagination conceives of archaeology as a producer of images of the past which become representations of modern group identities If archaeology is utilized by public groups to construct and represent identities then what are archaeologists to do with that public The very fact that the public is interested in the past and in archaeological research is an opportunity for archaeology to engage that public Participation in the public s modern interest in archaeology however puts archaeology at risk The growing role of archaeology and heritage within the economics of tourism has led to a commodification of archaeological knowledge and experience for consumption This volume begins a discourse on the implications of performing archaeology in a world dominated by modern trends of mass production mass replication and representation of cultural forms and mass consumption of images of the past The contributors explore to what extent we are experiencing a crisis of representation of the past due to contemporary consumption of mass produced replicas simulations images and experiences of the past To work through this crisis the contributors in this volume are exploring opportunities for development within archaeological thought and practice Their arguments illustrate a move towards active participatory and poetic archaeological thought and practice Rather than focusing on what is produced through process artifacts monuments interpretive centers etc they are concerned with what they are doing about taking part about participating reflexively in the tradition of understanding and expressing understanding of the past Thisvolume does not conjure up romantic beliefs about the project of archaeology but rather it signals a fundamental revision of archaeology not what it is but what it can do Images of the Past Jana Esther Fries,Doris Gutsmedl-Schumann,Jo Zalea Matias,Ulrike Rambuscheck,2017 Pictures are an essential feature of archaeological discourse The way they are used and their unconsciously made assertions demonstrate important things about ourselves our theories our methods and the way we think They subtly convey our convictions and view of the world especially with regards to gender issues The papers united in this volume highlight the relationship between words and images thinking and showing knowledge and assumptions scholarly thinking and popular images in archaeology They cover two main issues pictorial representations of archaeology in academic and popular media and pictures in museums The authors examine the use of gender in academic publications TV documentaries video games non fiction books for children and adolescents and in archaeological museums in Spain and Germany The volume is the result of two sessions of gender study in archaeology Images of the Past Gender and its Representations during the 20th Annual Meeting of the European Association of Archaeologists in September 2014 in Istanbul and Gender in Museums the symposium of the Nordwestdeutscher Verband f r Altertumskunde Northwest German Association for Antiquarian Studies in September 2013 in L beck This book includes articles in English and in German

Digital Heritage and Archaeology in Practice Ethan Watrall,Lynne Goldstein,2022-06-28 Diversity in Visual Representations of the Past Jo Zalea Matias,Nicola Scheyhing,Doris Gutschiedl-Schumann,2025-09-26 This volume presents an overview of the diversity or lack thereof in visual representations of the European past that are found in archaeology museums and media While publications discussing gender stereotypes in European archaeological media exist other identities remain underrepresented namely Black Indigenous and People of Color BIPOC those with visible and invisible disabilities and very young and very old This volume offers insight into these gaps in European media and archaeology while also providing alternative explanations for interpreting these often stereotyped identities and methodologies for inclusion The chapters within this volume are divided into four themes Themes cover the development of images of the past and discusses how images are chosen in museums The book identifies who is missing in images of the past with topics on representing individuals with disabilities children in museums the Other in Roman art and Scythians in museums and books and critiques approaches to representation and diversity in media such as in textbooks popular media and children s books Finally the book challenges the lack of diversity and a proliferation of stereotypes in images of the past and asks how do we improve on them and create new ones Overall this book addresses the need for diversity in images both within academic archaeology and with the broader public Plan and Classification, Department M. Archaeology, History Cartography ,1892 Reading the Body Alison E. Rautman,2000 In this volume classical archaeologists and anthropologists discuss mutually beneficial perspectives in method and theory as these relate to issues of gender An Illustrated Dictionary of Words Used in Art and Archaeology John William Mollett,1883 Representations of Gender From Prehistory To the Present NA NA,2016-04-30 Focusing primarily on visual forms of representation but also including material on literary representation this volume brings together studies as apparently disparate as the iconography of power in Mediterranean prehistory and clothing and cultural meaning in the First and Second World Wars

What draws these chapters together is the common focus on how the scholar of the twenty first century can pursue the interpretation of past representational cultural production from a gendered perspective The fruit of research by academics from the fields of archaeology classics and ancient history art history and social history and from both sides of the Atlantic this volume is a fascinating introduction to a developing field

Working with Rock Art Benjamin Smith,Knut Helskog,David Morris,2012-12-01 Cutting edge contributions that consider new approaches to the documentation of rock art its interpretation using indigenous knowledge and the presentation of rock art This volume contains contributions that consider new approaches to three areas the documentation of rock art its interpretation using indigenous knowledge and the presentation of rock art Working with Rock Art is the first edited volume to consider each of these areas in a theoretical rather than a technical fashion and it therefore makes a significant contribution to the discipline The volume aims to promote the sharing of new experiences between leading researchers in the field While the geographic focus is truly global there is a dominant north south axis with strong representation from researchers in southern Africa and northern Europe two leading centres for new approaches in rock art research Working with Rock Art opens up a long overdue dialogue about shared experiences between these two centres and a number of the chapters are the first published results of new collaborative research Since this volume covers the recording interpretation and presentation of rock art it will attract a wide audience of researchers heritage managers and students as well as anyone interested in the field of rock art studies The Belfry: quarterly papers on art, history, and archæology ,
