A Companion to Ovid Peter E. Knox, 2012-11-20 A Companion to Ovid is a comprehensive overview of one of the most influential poets of classical antiquity. Features more than 30 newly commissioned chapters by noted scholars writing in their areas of specialization. Illuminates various aspects of Ovid's work such as production, genre and style. Presents interpretive essays on key poems and collections of poems. Includes detailed discussions of Ovid's primary literary influences and his reception in English literature. Provides a chronology of key literary and historical events during Ovid's lifetime.

Disgust in Early Modern English Literature Natalie K. Eschenbaum, Barbara Correll, 2016-04-20 What is the role of disgust or revulsion in early modern English literature? How did early modern English subjects experience revulsion and how did writers represent it in poetry, plays and prose? What does it mean when literature instructs, delights and disgusts? This collection of essays looks at the treatment of disgust in texts by Spenser, Shakespeare, Donne, Jonson, Herrick and others to demonstrate how disgust, perhaps more than other affects, gives us a more complex understanding of early modern culture. Dealing with descriptions of coagulated eye drainage, stinky leeks and blood-filled fleas among other sensational things, the essays focus on three kinds of disgusting encounters: sexual, cultural and textual. Early modern English writers used disgust to explore sexual mores, describe encounters with foreign cultures and manipulate their readers' responses. The essays in this collection show how writers deployed disgust to draw and sometimes to upset the boundaries that had previously defined acceptable and unacceptable behaviors, people and literatures. Together they present the compelling argument that a critical understanding of early modern cultural perspectives requires careful attention to disgust.

Early Modern Encounters with the Islamic East Sabine Schülting, Sabine Lucia Müller, Ralf Hertel, 2016-04-29 An exploration of early modern encounters between Christian Europe and the Islamic East from the perspective of performance studies and performativity theories, this collection focuses on the ways in which these cultural contacts were acted out on the real and metaphorical stages of theatre, literature, music, diplomacy and travel. The volume responds to the theatricalization of early modern politics to contemporary anxieties about the tension between religious performance and belief, to the circulation of material objects in intercultural relations and the eminent role of theatre and drama for the re-imagining and negotiation of cultural difference. Contributors examine early modern encounters with and in the East using an innovative combination of literary and cultural theories. They stress the contingent nature of these contacts and demonstrate that they can be read as moments of potentiality in which the future of political and economic relations as well as the players' cultural, religious and gender identities are at stake.
