Pevsner Architectural Guides Birmingham:

Birmingham Andy Foster, 2005-01-01 This is a detailed authoritative and easy to use guide to the architectural wealth of England's second city the workshop of the world Birmingham's major buildings include its splendid English Baroque cathedral pioneering Neo Roman town hall and still controversial Central Library of the 1970s Streets of rich and varied Victorian and Edwardian architecture bear witness to an earlier era when Birmingham's civic initiatives were the admiration of the country More recently the city has been rejuvenated with architecture on a giant scale including the iconoclastic Selfridges and the canalside precinct of Brindleyplace where Modernism and Classical Revival are excitingly juxtaposed The guide also explores a variety of outer districts and suburbs among them the famous Jewellery Quarter the stucco villas of Edgbaston and Cadbury's celebrated Garden Suburb at Bournville A connecting theme is provided by the local Arts and Crafts school which flourished well into the twentieth century Birmingham and the Black Country Andy Foster, Nikolaus Pevsner, Alexandra Wedgwood, 2022-03-22

The latest revised volume in the Pevsner Architectural Guides covering Birmingham and the towns and settlements of the Black Country This fully revised account of the buildings of the City of Birmingham its suburbs and outskirts and the adjacent Black Country explores an area rich in Victorian and Edwardian architecture Even the small towns of the Black Country supported local architects with their own distinctive styles such as C W D Joynson in Darlaston and A T Butler in Cradley Heath Much West Midlands industry was organized in small to medium sized firms resulting in a rich and diverse streetscape and canalscape The Arts and Crafts tradition also established deep roots in the area resulting in masterpieces such as Lethaby's Eagle Insurance in Birmingham and Wolverhampton's Wightwick Manor as well as a host of fine villas and churches Older buildings of national significance include the grand Jacobean mansion of Aston Hall Thomas Archer's Birmingham Cathedral and such unexpected delights as the neoclassical barn in Solihull by Sir John Soane Featuring new color photography and numerous maps and text illustrations this volume will transform understanding and enjoyment of the architecture of this key English region Birmingham's Victorian and Edwardian Architects Phillada Ballard, 2009

Planning for Tall Buildings Michael J. Short, 2012 In a time of recession the challenge of building and planning for tall buildings has become even more complex the economics of development legislative and planning frameworks and the local politics of development must be navigated by those wishing to design and construct new tall buildings which fit within the fabric of their host cities This book is a timely contribution to the debate about new tall buildings and their role and effect on our cities It is divided into two main parts In part one the relationship between tall buildings and planning is outlined followed by an exploration of the impacts that construction of tall buildings can have It focuses in particular on the conservation debates that proposals for new tall buildings raise The first part ends with an analysis of the way in which planning strategies have evolved to deal with the unique consequences of tall buildings on their urban locations The second part of the book focuses on seven examples of medium sized cities dealing with planning and conservation issues and implications that arise from tall buildings These have been chosen to reflect a wide range of methods to either encourage or to control tall buildings that cities are deploying The case studies come from across the western world covering England Manchester Liverpool Newcastle and Birmingham Norway Oslo Ireland Dublin and Canada Vancouver and represent a broad spectrum of approaches to dealing with this issue In drawing together the experiences of these varied cities the book contributes to the ongoing debate about the role of the tall building in our cities their potential impacts and experiences of those who use and inhabit them The conclusions outline how cities should approach the strategic planning of tall buildings as well as how they should deal with the consequences of individual buildings particularly on the built heritage

A Wealth of Buildings: Marking the Rhythm of English History Richard Barras, 2016-09-23 This two volume book explores how the great buildings of England bear witness to a thousand years of the nation's history In every age investment in iconic buildings reaches a climax when the prevailing mode of production is operating most effectively surplus wealth is most plentiful and the dominant class rules supreme During such periods of stability and prosperity the demand for new buildings is strong structural and stylistic innovations abound and there is fierce competition to build for lasting fame Each such climax produces a unique vintage of hegemonic buildings that are monuments to the wealth and power of those who ruled their world This second volume presents three case studies of iconic building investment from the eighteenth century to the present day During the eighteenth century the wealth of the great landed estates funded the golden age of country house building by aristocracy and gentry During the nineteenth century the Industrial Revolution unleashed an unprecedented wave of infrastructure investment and civic building by the ascendant capitalist class Since the late twentieth century the power of global financial capital has been symbolized by the relentless rise of city centre office towers A final chapter argues that these different forms of hegemonic building are a physical manifestation of the underlying rhythm of English history

Automobility and the City in Twentieth-Century Britain and Japan Simon Gunn, Susan C. Townsend, 2019-08-22 Automobility and the City in Twentieth Century Britain and Japan is the first book to consider how mass motorization reshaped cities in Japan and Britain during the 20th century Taking two leading motor cities Nagoya and Birmingham as their principal subjects Simon Gunn and Susan C Townsend show how cars changed the spatial form and individual experience of the modern city and reveal the similarities and differences between Japan and Britain in adapting to the motor age The book has three main themes the place of automobility in post war urban reconstruction the emerging conflict between the promise of mobility and personal freedom offered by the car and its consequences for the urban environment the M E dilemma and the extent to which the Anglo Japanese comparison can throw light on fundamental differences in cultural understanding of the environment urbanism and the self The result is the first comparative history of mass automobility and its environmental consequences between East and West

The Architects' Journal, 2005-07

Material Change Jan De Maeyer, Peter Jan Margry, 2021-12-17 The long nineteenth century c 1780 c 1920 in Western Europe saw an unprecedented rise in the production and possession of material goods. The material culture diversified and led to a rich variety of expressions. Dovetailing with a process of confessionalisation that manifested itself quite simultaneously, material religion witnessed its heyday in this period from church buildings to small devotional objects. The present volume analyses how various types of reform state societal and ecclesiastical that were part of the process of modernisation affected the material devotional culture within Protestantism, Anglicanism and Roman Catholicism. Although the contributions in this book start from a comparative European perspective, the case studies mostly focus on individual countries in North West Europe, namely Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, the United Kingdom, Ireland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark. The concept of material religion is approached in a very inclusive way. The volume discusses amongst others parish infrastructures and religious buildings that are part of land and cityscapes but also looks into interior design and decorations of chapels, churches, monasteries, cemeteries and educational, charitable and health institutions. It comprises the fine arts of religious painting and sculpture, the applied arts and iconographic designs. As far as private material culture is concerned, this volume examines and presents objects related to private devotion at home, including a great variety of popular devotional and everyday life objects such as booklets, cards, photographs and posters. Britain's Lost Cities, Gavin Stamp, 2007. The destruction meted out on Britain's city centres during the twentieth century by the combined efforts of the Luftwaffe and city planners. This volume reproduces hundreds of photographs of cities from Plymouth to Dundee, all of streets and buildings that are gone for ever. It is also an evocation of Britain's architectural past. A Glimpse of Heaven, Christopher Martin, 2006. The architecture and decoration of Catholic churches and their importance as part of our heritage has gone largely undiscovered and unappreciated. This book is a celebration of 100 Catholic churches in England and Wales with lively and informative text and stunning photography specially commissioned for the book. Each chapter is devoted to a milestone in the history of the Catholic Church since the Reformation with a brief introduction followed by a description of each church complementing Alex Ramsay's photographs. The churches vary enormously in scale, date and location. The small 14th century chapel at Rotherwas near Hereford survived centuries of official persecution and more informal terror from local anti-Catholics. The 19th century Church of St Everilda in Yorkshire was built after Catholic Emancipation but though off the beaten track, it still hid its interior magnificence behind non-committal blank walls. The Gothic churches of architect Joseph Hansom strike wonder into the hearts of their visitors at Manchester's Holy Name. He contrived a space of breath-taking vastness, architecture designed to shock and awe. Early 20th century church architects adopted a lighter and in some cases extraordinary approach that gave Rochdale a church with a Byzantine dome and a wall of sumptuous mosaics. All these are important architecturally, decoratively, historically and socially and each has an additional powerful and poignant dimension because of their remarkable stories. The Archaeological Journal, 2006. Vernacular Architecture Newsletter, 2006. Die Alte Stadt, 2006. Country Life, 2005. The English Parsonage in the Early Nineteenth Century, Timothy

Brittain-Catlin,2008 Whether it s finding missing millionaires or rescuing sea lions you ll love the adventure as the Camp Club Girls pitch in their personal skills to solve mysteries and save the day Jewish Heritage in Britain and Ireland
Sharman Kadish,2015 This comprehensive gazetteer and guide to historic synagogues and Jewish heritage sites in Britain and Ireland has been fully revised and updated in this second edition and celebrates in full colour the undiscovered heritage of Anglo Jewry Art Libraries Journal ,2006 Jewish Heritage in England Sharman Kadish,2006 Covering more than 300 sites this work highlights major Jewish landmarks in England ranging from Britain s oldest synagogue Bevis Marks Synagogue in London through the Georgian gems of the West Country to the splendid High Victorian cathedral synagogues of Birmingham Brighton and Liverpool Choice ,2006 The Burlington Magazine ,2004
