Philippine Picture Post Cards 1900-1920:

Philippine Picture Post Cards, 1900-1920 Jonathan Best, 1994 Catalogue of Philippine Picture Postcards Conrado Francisco Ciriaco, 1995 Representations of American Imperialism in Picture Postcards of Manila, 1898-1946 Ian Morley, 2025-11-18 This book utilizes postcards as a historical and visual lens to consider the built environment of the Philippines after the governmental regime change in 1898. By compiling and using visual references to show shifting patterns of urban environmental design during the Philippines American colonial era, this volume will reveal the changes in Manila's built environment. This book will also examine the loss of the historic urban form post 1946. In detailing the altering landscape of Manila, the book reveals the relationship between the development of the built environment and its societal context.

Picturing the Postcard Monica Cure, 2018-12-18 The first full length study of a once revolutionary visual and linguistic medium. Literature has died many times; this book tells the story of its death by postcard. Picturing the Postcard looks to this unlikely source to shed light on our collective modern day obsession with new media. The postcard, almost unimaginably now produced at the end of the nineteenth century, the same anxieties and hopes that many people think are unique to twenty-first century social media such as Facebook or Twitter. It promised a newly connected social world accessible to all and threatened the breakdown of authentic social relations and even of language. Arguing that new media is as much a discursive object as a material one and that it is always in dialogue with the media that came before it, Monica Cure reconstructs the postcard's history through journals, legal documents, and sources from popular culture, analyzing the postcard's representation in fiction by well-known writers such as E. M. Forster and Edith Wharton and by more obscure writers like Anne Sedgwick and Herbert Flowerdew. Writers deployed uproar over the new medium of the postcard by Anglo-American cultural critics to mirror anxieties about the changing nature of the literary marketplace, which included the new role of women in public life, the appeal of celebrity, and the loss of privacy, an increasing dependence on new technologies, and the rise of mass media. Literature kept open the postcard's possibilities and in the process reimagined what literature could be.

Grasping the World Donald Preziosi, Claire Farago, 2019-07-23 First published in 2004, this volume recognises that there is much more to museums than the documenting, monumentalizing, or theme parking of identity, history, and heritage. This landmark anthology aims to make strange the very existence of museums and to plot a critical historical and ethical understanding of their origins and history. A radical selection of key texts introduces the reader to the intense investigation of the modern European idea of the museum that has taken place over the last fifty years. Texts first published in journals and books are brought together in one volume with up to the minute and specially commissioned pieces by leading administrators, curators, and art historians. The selections are organized by key themes that map the evolution of the debate and introduced by Donald Preziosi and Claire Farago, two considerable critics who write with the edge and enthusiasm of art historians who have spent their lives working with museums. Grasping the World is an invaluable resource for students and teachers of art.
