Shipka, 2011-04-30 To many academics composition still represents typewritten texts on 8 5 x 11 pages that follow rote argumentative guidelines In Toward a Composition Made Whole Jody Shipka views composition as an act of communication that can be expressed through any number of media and as a path to meaning making Her study offers an in depth examination of multimodality via the processes values structures and semiotic practices people employ every day to compose and communicate their thoughts Shipka counters current associations that equate multimodality only with computer digitized or screen mediated texts which are often self limiting She stretches the boundaries of composition to include a hybridization of aural visual and written forms Shipka analyzes the work of current scholars in multimodality and combines this with recent writing theory to create her own teaching framework Among her methods Shipka employs process oriented reflection and a statement of goals and choices to prepare students to compose using various media in ways that spur their rhetorical and material awareness They are encouraged to produce unusual text forms while also learning to understand the composition process as a whole Shipka presents several case studies of students working in multimodal composition and explains the strategies tools and spaces they employ She then offers methods to critically assess multimodal writing projects Toward a Composition Made Whole challenges theorists and compositionists to further investigate communication practices and broaden the scope of writing to include all composing methods While Shipka views writing as crucial to discourse she challenges us to always consider the various purposes that writing serves

Discord And Direction Sharon James McGee,Carolyn Handa,2005-08-30 The collection further argues that postmodernism offers a useful lens through which to understand the work of WPAs and to examine the discordant cultural and institutional issues that shape their work Each chapter tackles a problem local to its author s writing program or experience as a WPA and each responds to existing discord in creative ways that move toward rebuilding and redirection Jacket Who Can Afford Critical Consciousness? David Seitz,2004 Through ethnographic research with students this book contends that many composition teachers training in critical theory may lead them to misread implicit social meanings in working class minority and immigrant students writing and thinking The author examines how the local perspectives and discursive strategies of students from these backgrounds often complicate the translation of these theories to practice The author offers concrete assignments and curriculum design as well as reflections on the process of the teaching approaches and discussion of student s writing projects First Time Up Brock Dethier,2005 First time up an insider s friendly question from 1960s counter culture perfectly captures the spirit of this book A short supportive practical guide for the first time college composition instructor the book is upbeat wise but friendly casual but knowledgeable like the voice that may have introduced you to certain other firsts With an experiential focus rather than a theoretical one First Time Up will be a strong addition to the newcomer s professional library and a great candidate for the TA practicum reading list Dethier author of The Composition Instructor s Survival Guide and From Dylan to Donne directly addresses the common headaches nightmares and epiphanies of composition teaching especially the ones that face the new teacher And since legions of new college composition teachers are either graduate instructors TAs or adjuncts without a formal background in composition studies he assumes these folks as his primary audience Dethier s voice is casual but it conveys concern humor experience and reassurance to the first timer He addresses all major areas that graduate instructors or new adjuncts in a writing program are sure to face from career anxiety to thoughts on grading and keeping good classroom records Dethier s own eclecticism is well represented here but he reviews with considerable deftness the value of contemporary scholarship to first time writing instructors many of whom will be impatient with high theory Throughout the work he affirms a humane confident approach to teaching along with a true affection for college students and for teachers just learning to deal with them Resources in Education ,1994 Rhetorical Women Hildy Miller,Lillian Bridwell-Bowles,2005 Just as women in Greek myth are cast in roles ranging from the helpless and innocent to the manipulative and powerful so women throughout the history of rhetoric have represented themselves as fulfilling roles that range from dependents or enablers of male authority to autonomous agents acting on their own These essays examine the tactics women have employed in self representation and the feminist rhetorics that result Contributors examine both past and present practices highlighting correspondences between them and the ways those practices have varied succeeded or failed Essays in part 1 consider how women historically have found ways to speak and write while negotiating the limitations of their positions as women as well as their spiritual class and ethnic roles Essays in part 2 study the formal genres strategies and techniques female rhetoricians have used and the essays of part 3 consider the contemporary challenges faced by women rhetors in a pluralistic world and the strategies and genres they have inherited and transformed representations by criss crossing time and selecting particular issues and or figures to focus on Rhetorical Women is unique in that it juxtaposes several concerns in order to spotlight the strategies of the women rhetors it considers American Book Publishing Record ,2003 Literacies Across Educational Contexts Brian V.
