Thinking Through Loneliness Diane Enns,2022-04-21 This is the peculiar paradox of loneliness I am unseen yet I feel exposed as though my most internal suffering were on public display as though I am disclosing to the world the vulnerability it does not want to see By reflecting on the experience of loneliness through the author s own life the narratives of others and analyses from Arendt to Berardi Thinking Through Loneliness explores the ambiguities of being alone It seeks to defy the reductionist tendencies of the current loneliness experts looking beyond loneliness as a collective health crisis to consider what it tells us about our great need for one another and what happens when we fail to meet this need Our social needs vary however to investigate loneliness is to inquire into the contradictions of the human condition we are alone and together separate and attached which gives rise to the need for individuality on the one hand and for intimacy on the other To be lonely is to suffer from an unfulfilled desire to be close to others But we can also suffer from an unfulfilled desire to be separate from others Diane Enns explores how loneliness might be an inescapable dimension of human existence but also the collective symptom of social failure The lonely are not to blame for their distress they are witnesses to the failure of our contemporary social world dramatically transformed in recent decades by digital technology and changes in how we work love socialize and live together in households neighbourhoods and cities Enns argues it is crucial to recognise the structural conditions economic political institutional technological that give rise to the isolation that produces loneliness Only then can we work to undermine these conditions preserving all that is best about human social life
