Pettifur A Story:

How Women Can Save The Planet Anne Karpf, 2021-05-27 Here's a perverse truth from New Orleans to Bangladesh women especially poor women of colour are suffering most from a crisis they have done nothing to cause Yet where in environmental policy are the voices of elderly European women dying in heatwaves Of African girls dropping out of school due to drought Our highest profile climate activists are women and girls but at the top table it's men deciding the earth's future We're not all in it together but we could be Instead of expecting individual women to save the planet what we need are visionary global climate policies that are gender inclusive and promote gender equality Anne Karpf shines a light on the radical ideas compelling research and tireless campaigns led by and for women around the world that have inspired her to hope Her conversations with female activists show how we can fight back with strength in diversity And faced with the most urgent catastrophe of our times she offers a powerful vision a Green New Deal for Women Appleby Plays Chicken Michael Innes, 2010-02-20 David was hiking across Dartmoor As far as he could tell he was the only human being for miles but it turns out that he was the only living human being for miles At least that is what he presumed when he found a dead man on top of the tor Understanding Transatlantic Relations Serena Simoni, 2013-05-29 In light of the Arab Spring and after days of public quarreling that highlighted the divisions among NATO's members on an agreement to give command of the no fly zone in Libya to the Alliance it is evident that the U.S. is having problems engaging with its European allies and partners Why is this happening Breaking away from the conventional way to study transatlantic relations Serena Simoni uses a Constructivist theoretical lens to argue that the transatlantic partners changing identities since the early 1990s have influenced their political interests and as a consequence their national security policies Contemporary divergences are a notable byproduct of these transformations By focusing on cases of disagreement i.e. NATO's enlargement the International Criminal Court and Debt Relief for Africa this book shows how since the 1990s the US has started to see itself as the actor carrying the international defense burden while the European Union has developed an image of itself as the actor in charge of humanitarian efforts which generally entails diplomacy rather than military efforts Contemporary cases of disagreement as the Arab Spring Libya and Foreign Assistance in Africa illustrate how redefined national identities continue to alter the course of transatlantic relations Understanding Transatlantic Relations provides a more accurate examination of the future of transatlantic relations and offers an understanding of those issues that the United States and Europe would consider important enough to justify their cooperation Ecological Debt Andrew Simms, 2009-02-20 Millions of people in the West are running up huge ecological debts from the amount of oil and coal that we burn to heat our houses and run our cars to what we consume and the waste that we create the impact of our lifestyles is felt worldwide Whilst these debts go unpaid millions more living in poverty in the majority world suffer the burden of paying dubious foreign financial debts Ecological Debt explores this great paradox of our age Highlighting how and why this has happened it also shows what can be done
