Case Studies in Pharmacy Ethics Robert Veatch, Amy Haddad, 2010-04-10 Pharmacists face ethical choices constantly sometimes dramatic life and death decisions but more often subtle less conspicuous choices that are nonetheless important Among the topics confronted are assisted suicide conscientious refusal pain management equitable distribution of drug resources within institutions and managed care plans confidentiality and alternative and non traditional therapies Veatch and Haddad's book first published in 1999 was the first collection of case studies based on the real experiences of practicing pharmacists for use as a teaching tool for pharmacy students The second edition accounts for the many changes in pharmacy since 1999 including assisted suicide in Oregon the purchasing of less expensive drugs from Canada and the influence of managed care on prescriptions The presentation of some cases is shortened most are revised and updated and two new chapters have been added The first new chapter presents a new model for analyzing cases while the second focuses on the ethics of new drug distribution systems for example hospitals where pharmacists are forced to choose drugs based on cost effectiveness and internet based pharmacies

Pharmaceutical Review , 1899 The Law and Ethics of the Pharmaceutical Industry M.N.G. Dukes, 2005-11-04 As one of the most massive and successful business sectors the pharmaceutical industry is a potent force for good in the community yet its behaviour is frequently questioned could it serve society at large better than it has done in the recent past

Its own internal ethics both in business and science may need a careful reappraisal as may the extent to which the law administrative civil and criminal succeeds in guiding and where necessary constraining it The rules of behavior that may be considered to apply to today's pharmaceutical industry have emerged over a very long period and the process goes on Even the immensely detailed standards for quality safety and efficacy laid down in drug law and regulation during the second half of the twentieth century have their limitations as tools for ensuring that the public interest is well served In particular national and regional regulatory agencies are heavily dependent on industrial data for their decision making their standards and competence vary and even the existing network of agencies does not cover the entire world What is more there are many areas of law and regulation affecting the industry concerning for example the pricing of medicines the conduct of clinical studies the health protection of workers and concern for the environment In some fields it is indeed hardly possible to maintain standards through regulation Professor N M Graham Dukes a physician and lawyer with long term experience in industrial research management academic study and international drug policy provides here a powerfully documented analysis into the way this industry thinks acts and is viewed and examines the current trends pointing to change Provides a balanced picture of the current role of the pharmaceutical industry in society Includes indices of conventions laws and regulations as well as judicial and disciplinary cases This is the only book addressing the legal implications of big pharma activities and ethical standards The Pharmaceutical Era ,1897 Transactions of the Pharmaceutical Meetings ,1880
