The Human-Animal Bond in Clinical Social Work Practice Katherine Compitus, 2021-11-12 The human animal bond may be described as a dynamic mutually beneficial relationship between people and the animals they care for There are a multitude of mental and physical health benefits for people who care for animals and animals in therapy have been shown to aid a wide range of people and illnesses Although the benefits of animal companionship have long been suspected little is known about the research the process or why it works This book provides clinicians with a history of the human animal bond and the rationale for incorporating animals into therapy today In this book the author includes a discussion of the myriad of ways that clinicians can directly help people care for their pets such as crisis intervention services policy issues grief counseling for pet loss and compassion fatigue in the veterinary profession There also is a thorough discussion of animal assisted therapy AAT as a distinct and unique modality The adaptive nature of AAT is not only due to the symbiotic relationship between humans and animals but also because of the flexible nature of the model it can be used with clients of all demographics and with most mental illnesses Research shows that the majority of mental health practitioners believe that AAT is a valid treatment modality but AAT has not yet been manualized and clinicians are left confused about where to start The Human Animal Bond in Clinical Social Work Practice is a unique and essential resource that provides guidelines for developing AAT treatment plans and integrating AAT with existing therapeutic models The book answers the questions that social workers psychologists psychiatrists and other mental health counselors may have about the benefits of the human animal bond and ways to tap into that special bond in direct practice

The Psychology of the Human-Animal Bond Christopher Blazina, Güler Boyraz, David Shen-Miller, 2011-06-22 There have been dramatic increases in the financial emotional and psychological investment in pets over the past four decades The increasing importance of animal companions in people's lives has resulted in growing emphasis on the human animal bond within academic literature This book introduces practicing and emerging professionals to vital subject matter concerning this growing specialty area by providing an essential framework and information through which to consider the unique contextual backdrop of the human animal bond Such contexts include a wide array of themes including issues of attachment and loss success and frustration with making and sustaining connections world views regarding animal ethics familial history of neglect or abuse and cultural dynamics that speak to the order of things between mankind and nature Adopting a contextual stance will aid mental health professionals in appreciating why and how this connection has become a significant part of everyday life for many As with any other important clinical dynamic training and preparation are needed to gain competence for professional practice and research To this end an ensemble of international experts across the fields of psychology and mental health explore topics that will help both new and established clinicians increase and understanding of the various ways the human animal bond manifests itself Perspectives from beyond the scope of psychology and mental health such as anthropology philosophy literature religion and history are included to provide a sampling of the significant contexts in which the human animal bond is established What brings these divergent topics together in a meaningful way is their relevance and centrality to the contextual bonds that underlie the human animal connection This text will be a valuable resource that provides opportunities to deepen one s expertise in understanding the psychology of the human animal bond      The Human-Animal

Relationship as a Subject of Citizenship Education Jennifer Bloise,2025-09-26 The aim of this book is to explore the human animal relationship as a new subject of political education and to make it accessible for critical reflection A guiding thesis is that society s relationship with animals is both political and problematic as it is shaped by power structures and rarely recognized as an issue due to its status as an unexamined norm To explore this topic the model of didactic reconstruction is employed A problem centered interview study is used to reconstruct students everyday conceptions of animals humans and their political relationship These conceptions are then compared with academic perspectives particularly from Human Animal Studies in order to uncover contradictions and taken for granted assumptions and to identify exemplary didactically fruitful approaches to the subject The author concludes that future engagement with the human animal relationship in the context of political education should be critically oriented toward power structures This would enable reflective and multi perspective political judgment on the human animal relationship making the invisible visible
