Phenomenology Of Landscape Places Paths And Monuments:

A Phenomenology of Landscape Christopher Tilley, 1994-12-14 Offers a new approach to landscape perception This book is an extended photographic essay about topographic features of the landscape It integrates philosophical approaches to landscape perception with anthropological studies of the significance of the landscape in small scale societies This perspective is used to examine the relationship between prehistoric sites and their topographic settings The author argues that the architecture of Neolithic stone tombs acts as a kind of camera lens focussing attention on landscape features such as rock outcrops river valleys mountain spurs in their immediate surroundings These monuments played an active role in socializing the landscape and creating meaning in it A Phenomenology of Landscape is unusual in that it links two types of publishing which have remained distinct in archaeology books with atmospheric photographs of monuments with a minimum of text and no interpretation and the academic text in which words provide a substitute for visual imagery Attractively illustrated with many photographs and diagrams it will appeal to anyone interested in prehistoric monuments and landscape as well as students and specialists in archaeology anthropology and human geography Reception perception and interpretation are key to understanding landscapes This book provides a useful starting point for comprehension of these topics Dr Stuart Prior University of Bristol

A Dictionary of Archaeology Ian Shaw, Robert Jameson, 2002-05-06 This dictionary provides those studying or working in archaeology with a complete reference to the field

Handbook of Landscape Archaeology Bruno David, Julian Thomas, 2016-06-03 Over 80 archaeologists from four continents create a benchmark volume of the ideas and practices of landscape archaeology covering the theoretical and the practical the research and conservation and encasing the term in a global framework

Making Sense of Monuments Michael J. Kolb, 2019-11-06 Stonehenge Machu Picchu Confederate statues Egyptian pyramids and medieval cathedrals these are some of the places that are the subject of Making Sense of Monuments an analysis of how the built environment molds human experiences and perceptions via bodily comparison Drawing from recent research in cognitive neuroscience psychology and semiotics Michael J Kolb explores the mechanics of the mind the material world and the spatialization process of monumental architecture Three distinct spatial cognitive metaphors time movement and scale comprise strands of knowledge that when interwoven create embodied contours of meaning of how human interact with monumental spaces Comprehensive lucidly written and thoroughly illustrated Making Sense of Monuments is a vibrant extraordinary journey of the monuments we have constructed and inhabited Heidegger in the Twenty-First Century Tziovani Georgakis, Paul J. Ennis, 2015-03-02 The current volume is comparative and interdisciplinary and it provides a reflection on what thinking might become after Heidegger's philosophy Its aim is to critically expand the current field of research by presenting unfamiliar and uncharted avenues that will guide and carry the Heidegger scholarship into the twenty first century By doing so it addresses fundamental questions in the Heideggerian scholarship including its problems restraints and future direction It also engages and broadens the increasingly disparate approaches to Heidegger's work whether those approaches are traditional in their employment of phenomenology and hermeneutics or whether they apply to Heidegger's thinking in new and surprising ways. The first section of the volume emphasizes the importance of methodology for the future of Heidegger studies while the second section examines the historical ethical and vocal poetical in Heidegger's thought and draws conclusions relevant to the Heidegger scholar of today. The final section demonstrates Heidegger's appeal to a variety of other discourses besides philosophy and the way his thinking could be creatively approached, utilized and implemented in our century. Contributions come from cutting edge scholars such as Babette E. Babich, Dermot Moran, François Raffoul and Trish Glazebrook.

Handbook of Material Culture Chris Tilley, Webb Keane, Susanne Kuechler, Mike Rowlands, Patricia Spyer, 2006-01-05. The study of material culture is concerned with the relationship between persons and things in the past and in the present in urban and industrialized and in small scale societies across the globe. The Handbook of Material Culture provides a critical survey of the theories, concepts, intellectual debates, substantive domains and traditions of study characterizing the analysis of things. It is cutting edge rather than simply reviewing the field as it currently exists. It also attempts to chart the future, the manner in which material culture studies may be extended and developed. The Handbook of Material Culture is divided into five sections. Section I maps material culture studies as a theoretical and conceptual field. Section II examines the relationship between material forms, the human body and the senses. Section III focuses on subject-object relations. Section IV considers things in terms of processes and transformations in terms of production, exchange and consumption, performance and the significance of things over the long term. Section V considers the contemporary politics and poetics of displaying, representing and conserving material and the manner in which this impacts on notions of heritage, tradition and identity. The Handbook charts an interdisciplinary field of studies that makes a unique and fundamental contribution to an understanding of what it means to be human. It will be of interest to all who work in the social and historical sciences from anthropologists and archaeologists to human geographers to scholars working in heritage design and cultural studies.
