Power And Promise Of Humane Education

George Thorndike Angell

Power And Promise Of Humane Education:

The Power and Promise of Humane Education Zoe Weil, 2004 Critical world problems call for education that addresses the values and behaviors that perpetuate suffering oppression and destruction This book offers teachers clear suggestions for implementing humane education in both classrooms and non traditional educational settings Teaching Compassion:

Humane Education in Early Childhood Mary Renck Jalongo, 2013-07-23 In response to highly publicized incidents of school violence educators across the United States and in many other nations are seeking effective ways to prevent and modify aggressive and anti social behaviors in students One of the major recommendations of the research is that efforts to prevent cruelty need to begin early during the early childhood years of birth through age eight The focus of Teaching Compassion Humane Education in Early Childhood is guiding young children to accept responsibility for and to be kind in their interactions with fellow human beings animals and the environment Although humane education is a relatively new concept in the field of early childhood education professionals in the field are very familiar with many of the related concepts including promoting positive interpersonal interactions teaching children the skills of self regulation giving children experience in caring for living things and protecting the environment This edited volume is an interdisciplinary compendium of professional wisdom gathered from experts in the fields of education child development science psychology sociology and humane organizations As the book amply documents the concept of humane education is powerful integrative timely and appropriate in work with young children Teaching Compassion Humane Education in Early Childhood shows how it is possible for adults dedicated to the care and education of young children to balance attention to the cognitive and affective realms and in so doing to elevate the overall quality of early childhood programs for children families and communities

Looking to the Future Derek Hodson, 2011-10-25 In advocating an action oriented and issues based curriculum this book takes the position that a major but shamefully neglected goal of science and technology education is to equip students with the knowledge skills attitudes and values to confront the complex and often ill defined socioscientific issues they encounter in daily life as citizens in an increasingly technology dominated world carefully critically confidently and responsibly In outlining proposals for addressing socioscientific issues through a curriculum organized in terms of four increasingly sophisticated levels of consideration the author adopts a highly critical and politicized stance towards the norms and values that underpin both scientific and technological development and contemporary scientific engineering and medical practice criticizes mainstream STS and STSE education for adopting a superficial politically naive and hence educationally ineffective approach to consideration of socioscientific issues takes the view that environmental problems are social problems occasioned by the values that underpin the ways in which we choose to live and urges teachers to encourage students to reach their own views through debate and argument about where they stand on major socioscientific issues including the moral ethical issues they often raise More controversially the author argues that if students are to become responsible and politically active citizens the curriculum needs to provide opportunities for them to experience and learn from sociopolitical action The relative merits of direct and indirect action are addressed notions of learning about action learning through action and learning from action are developed and a case is made for compiling a user friendly database reflecting on both successful and less successful action oriented curriculum initiatives Finally the book considers some of the important teacher education issues raised by this radically new approach to teaching and learning science and technology The book is intended primarily for teachers and student teachers of science technology and environmental education graduate students and researchers in education teacher educators curriculum developers and those responsible for educational policy The author is Emeritus Professor of Science Education at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education University of Toronto Adjunct Professor of Science Education at the University of Auckland and Visiting Professor of Science Education at the University of Hong Kong His research interests include considerations in the history philosophy and sociology of science and their implications for science and technology education STSE education and the politicization of both students and teachers science curriculum history multicultural and antiracist education and teacher education via action research
