He hurt his wrist when he fell (16) his bike on the way to school but he was so worried about (17) his 100% attendance that he didn't (18) his teachers or parents until the school day had finished. He (19) admitted to his mother what had happened when she (20) that he was having difficulty eating his dinner and asked him what was wrong. Reflective Practice in Social Work Christine Knott, Terry Scragg, 2016-03-26 Reflective practice is at the heart of becoming a competent and confident social worker. It is both a key element of learning and development on social work courses and an important aspect of social work practice. This accessible and introductory text explores a range of approaches to reflective practice that aims to help students become more confident in answering key questions including what is reflective practice, how do I develop as a reflective practitioner, how do I maintain reflective practice in key contexts. There are sections on writing reflective journals, communicating well with service users and carers, and reflective practice while on placements.

Multitasking: Executive Functioning in Dual-Task and Task Switching Situations Tilo Strobach, Mike Wendt, Markus Janczyk, 2018-03-27 Multitasking refers to performance of multiple tasks. The most prominent types of multitasking are situations including either temporal overlap of the execution of multiple tasks, i.e. dual tasking, or executing multiple tasks in varying sequences, i.e. task switching. In the literature, numerous attempts have aimed at theorizing about the specific characteristics of executive functions that control interference between simultaneously and/or sequentially active component of task sets in these situations. However, these approaches have been rather vague regarding explanatory concepts, e.g. task set inhibition, preparation, shielding, capacity limitation, widely lacking theories on detailed mechanisms, and/or empirical evidence for specific subcomponents. The present research topic aims at providing a selection of contributions on the details of executive functioning in dual task and task switching situations. The contributions specify these executive functions by focusing on 1) fractionating assumed mechanisms into constituent subcomponents, 2) their variations by age or in clinical subpopulations, and/or 3) their plasticity as a response to practice and training.

Social Work Practice, Research, Empowerment, and Education for Koreans in the United States Anderson Sungmin Yoon, Suk-hee Kim, Mingun Lee, Juye Ji, 2025-11-27 Drawing on the empirical research and practical experiences, this book provides guidance on social work practice, research, community engagement, and education by offering a comprehensive understanding of culturally sensitive social work approaches for effectively engaging with Koreans in the United States.

Anti-Oppressive Social Work Practice Karen Morgaine, Moshoula Capous-Desyllas, 2014-07-07 Anti Oppressive Social Work Practice is the first text to fully integrate concepts of anti-oppressive practice with generalist practice course content. This comprehensive approach introduces concepts of social justice and offers detailed insight into how those principles intersect with the practice of social work at the micro, mezzo, and macro levels. The book covers ethics, values, and social work theory and discusses the fundamentals of working with individuals, families, groups, organizations, and communities. The book illustrates practice within organizations and communities, in addition to highlighting policy and social movement activism and practice within a global context. Maintaining an integrative approach throughout, authors Karen Morgaine and Moshoula Capous-Desyllas effectively bridge the gap between anti oppressive principles and practice and offer a practical comprehensive solution to schools approaching reaccreditation under the mandated CSWE Standards
