Rifles At Waterloo:

Rifle Green at Waterloo George Caldwell, Robert Cooper, 1990 Wellington's Rifles Ray Cusick, 2020-01-31 Until now there has not been a serious study of the rifle armed regiments of the British Army that earned such renown in the Peninsular and Waterloo campaigns Compiled by a former rifleman Ray Cusick who has written extensively on the subject Wellington's Rifles examines the new rifle regiments how they came about their development and their actions The author also investigates the introduction of rifled muskets into the British Army in the French and Indian wars of the eighteenth century where they were shunned by the military establishment to their transition into a key element in Wellington's extraordinarily successful Peninsular army The training and tactics of the riflemen are explained and each significant engagement in which they were involved is explored in thrilling detail It was the riflemen of the 95th Regiment that inspired the series of Sharpe books and films That was the fiction this is the reality The publication will be introduced by the renowned Napoleonic historian Ian Fletcher Rifles Mark Urban, 2008-09-04 As part of the Light Division created to act as the advance guard of Wellington's army the 95th Rifles are the first into battle and the last out Fighting and thieving their way across Europe they are clearly no ordinary troops The 95th are in fact the first British soldiers to take aim at their targets to take cover when being shot at to move tactically by fire and manoeuvre And by the end of the six year campaign they have not only proved themselves the toughest fighters in the army they have also at huge personal cost created the modern notion of the infantryman In an exhilarating work of narrative military history Mark Urban traces the story of the 95th Rifles the toughest and deadliest sharpshooters of Wellington's Army If you like Sharpe then this book is a must your Christmas present solved Bernard Cornwell Daily Mail Urban writes history the way it should be written alive and exciting Andy McNab The Gun and Its Development William Wellington Greener, 1910 The Rifle brigade chronicle, compiled and ed. by W. Verner, 1895 British Light Infantry & Rifle Tactics of the Napoleonic Wars Philip Haythornthwaite, 2016-10-20 In an age when infantry units manoeuvred and fought in rigid blocks the idea of encouraging initiative and allowing a unit to skirmish was regarded as revolutionary and fell out of favour in the years following the French Indian and American Revolutionary wars It was revived by far sighted British and foreign mercenary officers who observed the way in which French Revolutionary armies deployed skirmishers to prepare the way for their assault columns Offering a detailed analysis of the tactics this book is studded with period battle descriptions quoted from eye witness accounts creating a comprehensive guide to the Light and Rifles units of Wellington's Light Division As the result of the first tentative experiments in skirmishing the units achieved an unsurpassed peak of efficiency they marched faster were versatile in any sort of tactical situation and could shoot more accurately than either friend or foe No other national army either allied or enemy achieved these standards Wellington's Rifles Raymond P. Cusick, 2013 The First British Rifle Corps William Willoughby Cole Verner, 1890 The Rifle Brigade Chronicle Great Britain. Army. Rifle Brigade (Prince Consort's Own),1891 The Rifle Brigade Chronicle for ... ,1897 The History of the Rifle Brigade (the Prince Consort's Own)

Major George Simmons,2012-04-11 One of the best and most justly famous of the many memoirs of a serving British soldier during the Napoleonic Wars Born in Beverley in east Yorkshire George Simmons began his military life in 1805 as Assistant Surgeon in the Lincoln Militia He subsequently joined the 95th Rifles in order to help pay for his younger brothers education Simmons served throughout the thick of the Peninsular War under Wellington doing his duty as a Rifleman in six campaigns up to 1814 and seeing action at the sieges of Ciudad Rodrigo and Badajoz and the battles of Salamanca Vittoria and finally home to his impecunious but doting parents Adventures in the Rifle Brigade in the Peninsula, France and the

Gentlemen, We Will Stand and Fight Antony Bird,2011-09-16 At Le Cateau on 26 August 1914 the commanders of the Second Corps of the British Expeditionary Force elected to fight the German First Army and although outnumbered three to one delivered such a smashing blow to the German invaders that the whole of the BEF was able to continue the Retreat to Compiègne without being seriously threatened Although the British suffered 1 200 of their men and officers killed and were forced to leave their dead and many of their wounded on the battlefield as well as thirty six of their field guns they inflicted losses on von Kluck's army of nearly 9 000 Yet the architect of this feat of arms Second Corps commander Sir Horace Smith Dorrien was sacked soon afterward while First Corps commander Sir Douglas Haig who had performed far less impressively took command of the whole BEF Antony Bird describes the battle its aftermath and he examines the men the weapons and the tactics that made this feat of arms possible Annals of the King's Royal Rifle Corps: Vol 3 "The K.R.R.C." 1831-1871 Lieut-Col. Lewis Butler,2013-01-04 The third in the excellent five volume history of the K R R C takes the story from the aftermath of the Napoleonic wars in the 1830s to 1873 The 19th c K R R C was the creation of Col Robert Beaufoy Hawley who adapted its early principles to mid 19th century military conditions The early chapters detail the unit's service in Ireland and the Mediterranean recounting such hazards as the capture of officers by Balkan brigands shipwrecks and an outbreak of yellow fever in Jamaica which carried off a Col A F Ellis MP Serving in South Africa and India the Corps took part in the 2nd Sikh War under Sir Charles Napier the siege of Multan and campaigns against the Afghan tribes The book describes the discontent which led to the Indian Mutiny and the Mutiny itself in which the Corps took part in the siege and storming of Delhi winning no fewer than seven VCs in the action The Corps took part in the Opium Wars in China helping to capture Peking Beijing Later in the century the Corps was deployed to counter Chartist unrest in Britain and Irish Fenians in Ireland itself and Canada It also took part in the Red River expedition under Colonel Garnet Wolseley With three appendices detailing regimental leisure activities and battle honours eight illustrations and six maps The Nation ,1899 Colburn's
