Popular Sovereignty and Constituent Power in Latin America Emelio Betances, Carlos Figueroa Ibarra, 2016-11-24 This book combines a bottom up and top down approach to the study of social movements in relationship to the development of constituent and constituted power in Latin America The contributors to this volume argue that the radical transformation of liberal representative democracy into participative democracy is what colours these processes as revolutionary The core themes include popular sovereignty constituted power constituent power participatory democracy free trade agreements social citizenship as well as redistribution and recognition issues Unlike other collections which provide broad coverage of social movements at the expense of depth this book is of thematic focus and illuminates the relationships between rulers and ruled as they transform liberal democracy

Constitutional Change and Popular Sovereignty Maria Cahill, Colm Ó Cinnéide, Seán Ó Conaill, Conor O'Mahony, 2021-07-15 This collection focuses on the particular nexus of popular sovereignty and constitutional change and the implications of the recent surge in populism for systems where constitutional change is directly decided upon by the people via referendum It examines different conceptions of sovereignty as expressed in constitutional theory and case law including an in depth exploration of the manner in which the concept of popular sovereignty finds expression both in constitutional provisions on referendums and in court decisions concerning referendum processes While comparative references are made to a number of jurisdictions the primary focus of the collection is on the experience in Ireland which has had a lengthy experience of referendums on constitutional change and of legal political and cultural practices that have emerged in association with these referendums At a time when populist pressures on constitutional change are to the fore in many countries this detailed examination of where the Irish experience sits in a comparative context has an important contribution to make to debates in law and political science country study of how Asian states conceive of their security For each country it identifies and explains the security concerns and behavior of central decision makers asking who or what is to be protected against what potential threats and how security policies have changed over time This inside out or bottom up approach facilitates both identification of similarities and differences in the security thinking and practice of Asian countries and exploration of their consequences The crucial insights into the dynamics of international security in the region provided by this approach can form the basis for further inquiry including debates about the future of the region
