Crimm, 2016-04-15 In recent years a conservative majority of the U S Supreme Court over vigorous dissents has developed circumventions to the Establishment Clause of the First Amendment that allow state legislatures unabashedly to use public tax dollars increasingly to aid private elementary and secondary education This expansive and innovative legislation provides considerable governmental funds to support parochial schools and other religiously affiliated education providers That political response to the perceived declining quality of traditional public schools and the vigorous school choice movement for alternative educational opportunities provokes passionate constitutional controversy Yet the Court's recent decision in Arizona Christian School Tuition Organization v Winn inappropriately denies taxpayers recourse to challenge these proliferating tax funding schemes in federal courts Professors Winer and Crimm clearly elucidate the complex and controversial policy legal and constitutional issues involved in using tax expenditures mechanisms such as exclusions deductions and credits that economically function as government subsidies to finance private religious schooling The authors argue that legislatures must take great care in structuring such programs and set forth various proposals to ameliorate the highly troubling dissention and divisiveness generated by state aid for religious education

In the last few decades university teaching has been recognised as an activity which can be studied and improved through educational scholarship. In some disciplines this is now well established. It remains emergent in legal education. The field is rich with questions to be answered, issues to be raised. This book provides the first overall review of legal education scholarship. The chapters outline the history of legal education research and provide a detailed analysis of the trends in areas of publication. Beyond this, the book suggests a typology for further conceptualising the field and a series of suggested paths for future research. The book originated from the 2017 UNSW conference Research in Legal Education: State of the Art. It features internationally respected authors who bring their perspectives on how legal education as a field of research should be conceptualised. The collection is arranged into three themes. First, a historical view is taken of the emergence of legal education scholarship and its roots that predate modern educational theory. Secondly, the book provides overviews of the extant field of publications, highlighting areas of interest and neglect and delineating the trends in current publication. Thirdly, the book provides a set of suggested typologies for describing legal education research and a series of essays for future directions, which both critique current approaches and provide inspiration for future directions. The State of Legal Education Research represents an authoritative introduction to the field, a set of conceptual tools with which to describe it and inspiration for researchers to expand and grow research into legal education.
