

Sources of Values: Family, School, Community (FSC)

Module 1, Journeying with My Personal Models, explores the foundation of our values and norms first learned within the family, reinforced in the school and contextualized in the larger community, highlighting the accompaniment that the family, friends and other important individuals provide to an individual in his life journey. It is hoped that the students will strive to become models to other people by optimizing the values they receive from their personal models.

Contents: Values, Family, School, Community

At the end of the module, you, our students, are expected to:

- Explain the family as the first natural society,
- Probe on the various sources of values and norms,
- Identify the contributions of others in the one's value and character formation, and
- Imitate the examples of one's personal models.

ALASID-DANAS

Undeniably, values distinguish one person from another. What is more valuable to some may be less valuable to others. For instance, most students in Senior High School will give up participating in club or organization activities in order to allocate longer time for their academic tasks. Those who are involved in student affairs activities may consider honing their athletic skills more worthwhile than spending their time in a theater club. For others, they may find group activities more enjoyable than getting things done alone. Indeed, individual students differ from one another because of the varying values they uphold in life.

In the relationship between a member and his groups, like a member of his family or a student to his school or a citizen to a country, members are expected to practice the principles and value system that their groups are promoting. At home, a certain individual prioritizes family affairs over anything else because he is taught that family is the most important. In our country, Filipinos practice hospitality and Bayanihan as expressions of our cultural values as a nation. In a school like ours, members of our community, especially you, our students, are formed into concrete actors of our guiding principles as a Lasallian school. Truly, individuals journey with their family, school, and community to discover and rediscover their values in life.

SOURCES OF VALUES: LIFE'S CO-JOURNEYS

Dear Lasallians, our life is spent in the contexts of our Family, School, and Community. These FSC contexts are the venues where we are exposed to certain values which we consequently embrace as our personal standards and ultimately determine our way of life. However, there are some realities that complicate how teenagers see themselves as actors of their espoused values.

The Reality between Teenager's Independence and Parents' Protection (Family Context) It is not unusual that among youngsters, they complain about the overprotection that their parents give to them. Step after step, everything is prescribed by their parents with the latter imposing their choices on their children because they proclaim that they are more experienced and they know better. On the other hand, the parents consistently follow up on their

Practical Christian Living:

Practical Christian Living Steve Urick, 2011-11-30 Christians face many issues after they have been saved by God's grace. Knowing God, loving Him, and people living holy lives, questions about sex, dating, marriage, divorce, and the role of civil government and the local church are just a few. Practical Christian Living discusses these life topics and teaches Christians how to deal with overcoming sin. It also gives advice on how to live under God-ordained authority. Whether you are an old or new believer, this popular book will equip you with a basic understanding of God's plan and help you grow in grace and knowledge of Christ in order to live a life that is wise, fruitful, and pleasing to God. It will also help you to do the work of discipling others.

Theology for Practical Christian Living Kelvin M. McCune, 2008-06 McCune expresses the paramount importance of understanding systematic theology in a way that impacts the lives of believers on a daily basis.

Insights into James Gaylord Bowman, 2016-07-27 What should be the source of our joy? Whose fault is it when we fail? What does James challenge us to do? Why is pre-judging condemned? James is a challenge to each one of us on how to live the Christian lifestyle. It is the first book every new believer should read.

Life-Study of James Witness Lee, 1985-02

Bible Basics Duncan Heaster, 2011-01-05 Bible Basics is a detailed study of basic Biblical doctrines and teachings. It's a self-study guide with questions at the end of each of the 11 sections. It's designed to go through the basic message of the Bible from start to finish. Bible Basics is a positive presentation of the Gospel, but there are digressions to discuss difficult Bible passages and to demonstrate that many confusing doctrines such as the Trinity, immortal soul, and infant sprinkling are not Biblical nor strictly Christian, but instead merely the creation of mainstream church theologians. The book presents Biblical Christianity. Duncan Heaster is a Christadelphian, and the book is also a summary of the doctrines of the Christadelphian faith. The Christadelphian church uses the book as a standard reference.
