The New Deal

Reading Comprehension

Read the passage and answer the questions.

The Great Depression was a severe economic downturn that began in 1929 and lasted until the mid-1930s. It was characterized by widespread unemployment, poverty, and a collapse in consumer spending.

The New Deal was a series of programs and policies implemented by President Franklin D. Roosevelt to provide relief, recovery, and reform during the Great Depression.

The New Deal was designed to address the economic challenges of the time by providing relief to the unemployed, stimulating economic growth, and implementing reforms to prevent future crises.

Key components of the New Deal included the Social Security Act, which established a system of social insurance, and the National Industrial Recovery Act, which aimed to regulate industry and promote economic recovery.

The New Deal also included the Agricultural Adjustment Act, which sought to stabilize farm prices, and the Federal Housing Administration, which provided mortgage insurance.

Overall, the New Deal played a crucial role in helping the United States recover from the Great Depression and laid the foundation for the modern welfare state.

The New Deal was a landmark period in American history that reshaped the relationship between the government and the economy, and its legacy continues to influence policy today.
