Stellar Astrophysics with the World's Largest Telescopes Joanna Mikolajewska,Arkadiusz Olech,2005-03-29 The book reviews the most timely and interesting problems of stellar astrophysics particularly those suitable for studies with the world's largest telescopes and it can serve as an introduction to such studies. In particular it gives a comprehensive presentation of state of the art research in stellar and planetary system formation, extra solar planets, final stages of single and binary stellar evolution and stellar populations in the Local Group of Galaxies including observational techniques and technologies applicable to those important fields. The book also presents the most important unresolved problems of stellar astrophysics intended to help identify directions for future research.

Every Saturday, 1872 Extrasolar Planets Stuart G. Clark, 1998-11-24

Provides an overview of the developments in the search for planetary sized bodies orbiting Sun like stars. Discusses the formation and evolution of stars and the processes leading to the formation of protoplanetary discs, planetesimals, embryonic planets and complete planetary systems. Also examined are the techniques currently being employed for the detection of extrasolar planets and the results of those searches as well as the theoretical problems posed by giant planets with small orbital radii and those in eccentric orbits, brown dwarfs and the possible planets around pulsars. The final chapter speculates on finding habitable and inhabited worlds.
