Plant Breeding Symposium II:

Plant Breeding II Kenneth J. Frey, 1981      World Soybean Research Conference II Frederick T. Corbin, 2019-12-12
This book contains seventy four of the papers presented at the World Soybean Research Conference II held in March 26-29 1979 at North Carolina State University. It serves as an excellent resource for students and scientists involved in various phases of soybean research.      Plant breeding. Symposium ; 2 Kenneth J. Our requirement for plant breeders to be successful has never been greater. However, one views the forecasted numbers for future population growth we will need in the immediate future to be feeding, clothing and housing many more people than we do inadequately at present. Plant breeding represents the most valuable strategy in increasing our productivity in a way that is sustainable and environmentally sensitive. Plant breeding can rightly be considered as one of the oldest multidisciplinary subjects that is known to humans. It was practised by people who first started to carry out a settled form of agriculture. The art as it must have been at that stage was applied without any formal underlying framework but achieved dramatic results as witnessed by the forms of cultivated plants we have today. We are now learning how to apply successfully the results of yet imperfect scientific knowledge. This knowledge is however rapidly developing particularly in areas of tissue culture, biotechnology and molecular biology. Plant breeding's inherent multifaceted nature means that alongside obvious subject areas like genetics we also need to consider areas such as statistics, physiology, plant pathology, entomology, biochemistry, weed science, quality seed characteristics, reproductive biology, trial design, selection and computing.      Proceedings of a Symposium on Plant Breeding Shun-ching Hsieh, Dajiang Liu, 1982      Plant Breeding Symposium DSIR 1986 Tracy Ann Williams, 1986      Proceedings Of The Xiv International Grassland Congress J. Allan Smith, Virgil M. Hays, 2019-09-16
Approximately 1500 scientists from around the globe participated in the International Grassland Congress at the University of Kentucky in 1981, sharing existing knowledge of grasslands and exploring methods for increasing the productivity of livestock forage systems so as to better feed mankind while maintaining or improving environmental quality. Of the nearly 500 papers presented on previously unpublished original research or experimental research and development projects, 273 were selected for inclusion in this book. They cover the current basic and applied research on production and utilization of forages from grasslands the world over.      Proceedings of the Ninth Symposium of the International Society for Tropical Root Crops International Society for Tropical Root Crops. Symposium, 1994      Crop Improvement for Sustainable Agriculture Mitchell Brett Callaway, Charles A. Francis, 1993-01-01
Crop improvement for future farming systems. History of crop improvement in sustainable agriculture. Choosing germplasm for breeding program success. The role of seed companies in crop improvement. Crop breeding objectives and methods. Breeding for resistance to insects and plant pathogens. Crop tolerance to weeds. Tree improvement.
