Saracho,Bernard Spodek,1998-01-15 Play has been part of early childhood programs since the initial kindergarten developed by Friedreich Froebel more than one hundred and fifty years ago While research shows that most teachers value children s play they often do not know how to guide that play to make it more educational Too often in reflecting the value of child initiated activities teachers set the stage for children s play observe it but hesitate to intervene in that play They may fear that to intervene is to create a developmentally inappropriate set of educational practices However the lack of intervention may limit the educational outcomes of play Meanwhile a large body of research exists on different forms of children s play in educational settings that could inform teachers of young children and help them to improve their practice and support more educational play Saracho and Spodek bring together much of that research in an accessible volume for early childhood teachers and teacher educators Contemporary Perspectives on Social Learning in Early Childhood Education Olivia Saracho,Bernard Spodek,2007-06-01 Social epistemology is a broad set of approaches to the study of knowledge and to gain information about the social dimensions This intellectual movement of wide cross disciplinary sources reconstructs the problems of epistemology when knowledge is considered to be intrinsically social In the first chapter Social Epistemology and Social Learning Olivia Saracho and Bernard Spodek discuss the social and historical contexts in which different forms of knowledge are formulated based on the perspective of social epistemology They also discuss the emergence of social epistemology which guides researchers to investigate social phenomena in laboratory and field settings Social factors external to the appropriate business of science have a major impact in the social studies researchers historical case studies Thus social studies researchers may be considered social epistemologists because a they focus on knowledge of social influences and b they infer epistemologically significant conclusions from their sociological or anthropological research In addition analyses indicate that studies of scientific paradigms are basically a struggle for political power rather than reflecting reliable epistemic merit Social studies researchers focus on knowledge of social influences on knowledge which is analogous to the knowledge of the social epistemologists They also use their sociological or anthropological research to infer epistemologically significant conclusions

Weinert, 1996 This Encyclopedia intends to provide a research based overview in an educational perspective of the present state of the art of our knowledge and understanding of the conditions processes and modifiabilities of human development and learning The Encyclopedia focuses on both developmental psychology and instructional psychology Over the past decade the boundaries between these two separate research domains have become increasingly obscure Indeed developmental psychologists have shown a growing interest in the impact of environmental factors on development this has led to the study of educational and instructional variables the pre dominantly environmental factors Meanwhile instructional psychology has become a major subdomain of research on human cognition and development A substantial contribution to the synergy between both domains derives from the robust research finding that developmental changes are very important conditions as well as consequences of the acquisition of knowledge and meta cognitive strategies The resulting changes have inspired the decision to combine both developmental and instructional psychology into one single volume The trend toward the integration of both domains notwithstanding the systematic discussion of their research findings requires a certain delimitation of the two fields The Encyclopedia is divided into 16 areas in order to reflect the specific nature as well as the integration of both domains In the first section which is most representative of the integrative tendency a general framework of research on human development learning and instruction is outlined The next six chapters are concerned with the various aspects of human development and learning The remaining nine sections represent an overview of the research findings on learning and instruction which are relevant to education Articles include updated and revised material from the International Encyclopedia of Education 2nd Edition described by Choice as being a premier resource when judged on virtually every criteria applied to a reference work The Encyclopedia provides an informative introduction to aspects of developmental psychology and instructional psychology that significantly influence education Prelinguistic Skills and Early Interactional Context as Predictors of Children's Language Development Marja-Leena Laakso,1999 Yhteenveto Esikielellinen kommunikaatio ja sen vuorovaikutuksellinen konteksti lapsen kielen kehityksen ennustajina Psychiatry Allan Tasman,Jerald Kay,Jeffrey A.
