Planet Earth New View:

Between Two Worlds Lynton Keith Caldwell, 1992-01-23 The focus of this book is on changes in the human situation wrought by unprecedented changes in science based technology and expanding populations Increasing scientific information concerning these changes and their consequences is beginning to alter people's perceptions thus providing a rational basis for a worldwide environmental movement This movement complex and differentiated works through political and educational means to establish new social priorities consistent with scientific findings and the sustainability of life on Earth The success of this effort would signify a new phase of social development The thesis of this book is that human made changes in the condition of the Earth accompanied by the changing attitudes and values implicit in the environmental movement constitute an historical discontinuity The present era represents a transition between the assumptions and conditions that have hitherto characterized the modern world and those of the post modern world that is emerging Science and technology so vividly symbolized in the view from outer space are fundamentally changing our traditional beliefs about human opportunities and limitations and these changes are slowly being reflected in international policies and laws If humanity today succeeds in establishing a sustainable relationship to Earth a higher level of civilisation will have been achieved This thought provoking view will interest students and professionals in the science and politics of the environment Back To Darwin John B.

Cobb, 2008-02-04 This book provides a distinctive radical way beyond the quarrels between evolutionary science and Christian belief Leading scientists philosophers and theologians critically discuss the metaphysical assumptions of neo Darwinism and offer concrete ways of broadening mainstream evolutionary theory Their open exchange moderated by veteran process theologian John B Cobb presents a holistic case for evolution that both theists and nontheists can accept Contributors Francisco J Ayala Ian G Barbour Charles Birch Philip Clayton John B Cobb Jr John Greene David Ray Griffin A Y Gunter John F Haught Lynn Margulis Reg Morrison Dorion Sagan Jeffrey Schloss Robert J Valenza Howard J Van Till The Biosphere and Noosphere Reader David Pitt, Paul R. Samson, 2012-10-02 The Reader is the first comprehensive history of the noosphere and biosphere Drawing on classical influences modern parallels and insights into the future the Reader traces the emergence of noosphere and biosphere concepts within the concept of environmental change Reproducing material from seminal works both past and present key ideas and writings of prominent thinkers are presented including Bergson Vernadsky Lovelock Russell Needham Huxley Medawar Toynbee and Boulding and extensive introductory pieces by the editors draw attention to common themes and competing ideas Focussing on issues of origins theories parallels and potential the discussions place issues in a broad context compare and contrast central concepts with those of the Gaia hypothesis sustainability and global change and examine the potential application of noospheric ideas to current debates about culture education and technology in such realms as the Internet space exploration and the emergence of super consciousness Literally the sphere of mind or intellect the noosphere is apart of the realm of the possible in human affairs where there is a

Cosmic Apprentice Dorion Sagan,2013-05-01 In the pursuit of knowledge Dorion Sagan argues in this dazzlingly eclectic rigorously crafted and deliciously witty collection of essays scientific authoritarianism and philosophical obscurantism are equally formidable obstacles to discovery As science has become more specialized and more costly its questing spirit has been constrained by dogma And philosophy perhaps the discipline best placed to question orthodoxy has retreated behind dense theoretical language and arcane topics of learning Guided by a capacious democratic view of science inspired by the examples set by his late parents Carl Sagan who popularized the study of the cosmos and Lynn Margulis an evolutionary biologist who repeatedly clashed with the scientific establishment Sagan draws on classical and contemporary philosophy to intervene provocatively in often charged debates on thermodynamics linear and nonlinear time purpose ethics the links between language and psychedelic drugs the search for extraterrestrial intelligence and the occupation of the human body by microbial others Informed by a countercultural sensibility a deep engagement with speculative thought and a hardheaded scientific skepticism he advances controversial positions on such seemingly sacrosanct subjects as evolution and entropy At the same time he creatively considers a wide range of thinkers from Socrates to Bataille and Descartes to von Uexkll to reflect on sex biopolitics and the free will of Kermit the Frog Refreshingly nonconformist and polemically incisive Cosmic Apprentice challenges readers to reject both dogma and clich and instead recover the intellectual spirit of adventure that should and can once again animate both science and philosophy Glencoe Writer's Choice ,2005 Natural Disasters Patrick L.
