Planting Trees In The Developing World A Sociology Of International Organizations:

Planting Trees in the Developing World Steven R. Brechin, 1997 Over the past several decades international and national agencies and organizations have become increasingly aware of the problems of deforestation and desertification in the developing world Consequently they have mobilized interest and resources to combat these threats to sustainable economic development through a new activity the organized planting of trees for people Reforestation has proven to be difficult however because most arable land is already in use for agriculture and because uncertainties exist over land and tree tenure With forestry institutions weak and ineffective in many developing countries international organizations have assumed the leadership role in promoting this crucial task In Planting Trees in the Developing World Steven R Brechin draws upon organizational sociology to explain why three international organizations the World Bank the Forestry Department of the Food and Agriculture Organization and CARE USA performed so differently while promoting rural development forestry projects in Africa Asia and Latin America Focusing on the period from the mid 1970s to the early 1990s Brechin argues that the unique organizational nature of each agency shaped by internal characteristics as well as external pressures influenced its ability to promote certain kinds of development programs Rethinking International Organizations Dennis Dijkzeul, Yves Beigbeder, 2003 The management of international organisations is attracting growing attention This text provides a fundamental rethinking of current approaches criticism and cures for these organisations The Ashgate Research Companion to Non-State Actors Bob Reinalda, 2016-03-23 How do non state actors matter in international relations This volume recognizes three types of non state actor non governmental organizations NGOs intergovernmental organizations IGOs and transnational corporations It illustrates how they play roles alongside nation states and are interrelated in matters of international regulation and coordination After an introductory part on current qualitative and quantitative sources this comprehensive collection of state of the art essays is comprised of four main thematic parts Part II examines actors other than governments such as transnational religious actors business representatives and experts and also parliamentarians and agencies set up by IGOs Part III studies the perceptions and understandings in political philosophy international law and international relations theory It questions concepts used civil society NGO governance and covers the limitations to be kept in mind Part IV analyses the nature and impact of non state actors Chapters discuss processes within international bureaucracies diplomacy dynamism bureaucratic power contribution to democracy and the quintessence of deliberation and decision making within NGOs and IGOs and of implementation accountability and dispute settlement Part V studies specific worlds of non state actors humanitarian aid human rights security the North South divide health trade and environment Accessible and articulately written The Ashgate Research Companion to Non State Actors is aimed at a wide readership of scholars and practitioners in international relations The Political Invention of Fragile States Sonja Grimm, Nicolas Lemay-Hebert, Olivier Nay, 2016-04-14 This book investigates the emergence the dissemination and the reception of the notion of state fragility It analyses the process of conceptualisation examining how the fragile states concept was framed by policy makers to describe reality in accordance with their priorities in the fields of development and security Contributors investigate the instrumental use of the state fragility label in the legitimisation of Western policy interventions in countries facing violence and profound poverty They also emphasise the agency of actors on the receiving end describing how the elites and governments in so called fragile states have incorporated and reinterpreted the concept to fit their own political agendas A first set of articles examines the role played by the World Bank the OECD the European Union and the G7 in the transnational diffusion of the concept which is understood as a critical element in the new discourse on international aid and security A second set of papers employs three case studies Sudan Indonesia and Uganda to explore the processes of appropriation reinterpretation and the strategic use of the fragile state concept This book was originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly
