Shankar's Weekly ,1962 The Horticulturist ,2013 Science and the Pacific War Roy M. MacLeod,1999-12-31 In 1995 the fiftieth anniversary of the end of the Second World War occasioned many reflections on the place of science and technology in the conflict That the war ended with Allied victory in the Pacific theatre inevitably focussed attention upon the Pacific region and particularly upon the Manhattan project and its outcome It was in the Pacific that Western physics and engineering gave birth to the Atomic Age However the Pacific war had also proved a testing time and a testing space for other disciplines and institutions Extreme environments and operational distances and the fundamental demands of logistics required the Allies and the Japanese to innovate many scientific and technological practices Just as medicine and botany were called upon to fight tropical diseases and insect pests so engineers anthropologists and geographers were called upon to understand local conditions and climates and to work with local peoples whose traditional lives were changed forever by the experience At the same time the war played midwife to a host of new developments not least in scientific intelligence and in chemical and biological weapons which were to acquire far greater importance after 1945 Ecological Forest Management Jerry F. Franklin,K. Norman Johnson,Debra L. Johnson,2018-03-19 Fundamental changes have occurred in all aspects of forestry over the last 50 years including the underlying science societal expectations of forests and their management and the evolution of a globalized economy This textbook is an effort to comprehensively integrate this new knowledge of forest ecosystems and human concerns and needs into a management philosophy that is applicable to the vast majority of global forest lands Ecological forest management EFM is focused on policies and practices that maintain the integrity of forest ecosystems while achieving environmental economic and cultural goals of human societies EFM uses natural ecological models as its basis contrasting it with modern production forestry which is based on agronomic models and constrained by required return on investment Sections of the book consider 1 Basic concepts related to forest ecosystems and silviculture based on natural models 2 Social and political foundations of forestry including law economics and social acceptability 3 Important current topics including wildfire biological diversity and climate change and 4 Forest planning in an uncertain world from small privately owned lands to large public ownerships The book concludes with an overview of how EFM can contribute to resolving major 21st century issues in forestry including sustaining forest dependent societies
