Bonhommet, 1984 Paleogeodynamics Lev P. Zonenshain, Mikhail Ivanovich Kuz'min, 1997-01-23 Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Special Publications Series This volume presents the English language translation of L P Zonenshain and M I Kuzmin's classic text Paleogeodynamics first published in Russian in 1992. The study of paleogeodynamics or plate tectonics has had an incredible impact on geological research in the former Soviet Union. The authors of this text were among the first to systematically study and utilize the plate tectonic model in the Soviet Union. Within this book the entire sweep of plate tectonic observation interpretation and example are presented including detailed descriptions and analysis related to oceanic ridge structures geochemistry plate tectonic processes seismology tectonostratigraphy terranes paleoclimatology paleomagnetism reconstruction of past plate motions and global Earth history models. Because Zonenshain and his colleagues at the Shirshov Institute of Oceanography pioneered the quantitatively precise mathematical analysis of past plate and terrane motions one of the sections is highly mathematical presenting for the first time their development of reconstruction techniques based upon spherical geometry. The extensive bibliography presents and combines both Russian and English language references. Also unique to this volume are numerous examples taken from the plate tectonic history of portions of the former Soviet Union and from data collected during Soviet oceanographic cruises.

Devonian of the World Ashton F. Embry, 1988. The three volumes Devonian of the World constitute the proceedings of the second International Symposium on the Devonian System sponsored by the Canadian Society of Petroleum Geologists in Calgary Canada in August 1987.

Deep Structure and Past Kinematics of Accreted Terranes John W. Hillhouse, 1991-01-08. Published by the American Geophysical Union as part of the Geophysical Monograph Series Volume 50. The concept of accreted terranes that continents grow by the addition of displaced fragments of crust was the central topic of a recent multidisciplinary symposium sponsored by the International Union of Geodesy and Geophysics IUGG. This volume contains a selection of papers presented in Symposium 12 at XIX General Assembly of the IUGG held August 15-18 1987 in Vancouver. Convenors Edward Irving and David Stone focused the program on two major themes. The first was to track the displacement of terranes using paleomagnetism geologic mapping and paleontology. The second theme was to explore the deep structure of accreted terranes using seismological geochemical and potential field methods. Given the scope of those topics it is no surprise that the participants represented many specialties within the field of solid earth geophysics. The program included case histories from a collection of fold belts spanning much time and long distances from the Proterozoic sutures of North America to the Cenozoic accretionary complexes of the Pacific rim.

The Pennsylvanian-early Permian Bird Spring Carbonate Shelf, Southeastern California Calvin H. Stevens, Paul Stone, 2007. The Bird Spring Shelf in southeastern California along with coeval turbidite basins to the west records a complex history of Pennsylvanian and Early Permian sedimentation sea level changes and deformation along this part of the western North American continental margin. In this work we describe and figure the fusulinids including several new species and establish detailed correlations between deposits of the shelf and the flanking basins. We then use these correlations to reconstruct the depositional history paleogeography and deformational history of the region. This work adds significant detail to existing interpretations of the late Paleozoic as a time of major tectonic instability on the continental margin of southeastern California as it changed from a relatively passive margin which had persisted through most of the Paleozoic to an active convergent margin that would characterize the Mesozoic Publisher s website Memoir,1958      Devonian of the World N.
