Reflections of a Police Psychologist Jack Digliani, 2010-06-18 Reflections of a Police Psychologist is an account of the experiences thoughts and observations of a seasoned police veteran It is written for police officers and those who would like a glimpse into the world of policing from the perspective of a former police officer and current police psychologist Dr Digliani discusses the major challenges facing those first entering police work He addresses police field training and identifies the ten police field training pitfalls The PATROL program developed to assist new officers is outlined It involves an orientation and phase meetings between new officers and the staff psychologist to support them throughout field training Dr Digliani discusses how stress management becomes life management within the concepts of life by design and life by default Inside the parameters of life management a list of Some Things to Remember functions as an instrument for transactional change The issues related to traumatic stress and exposure are discussed The insights presented originate out of years of treating officers exposed to traumatic events The role of police peer support teams is examined Models for a peer support team policy and operational guidelines are presented There is also information relating to the confidentiality of peer support interactions a topic of current controversy Traumatic incident debriefings and their applications in policing are elucidated along with phase and freeze frame models of debriefing Included is a discussion of the current efficacy research pertinent to traumatic incident debriefings Police family issues and the Foundation Building Blocks of Functional Relationships are outlined Various family patterns of interaction are identified including information for families of traumatized officers There is a discussion of coping with death and loss a critical area for police officers An exposition of mental illness and interacting with the mentally ill from a police perspective is presented Toward the end of the book the retirement transition is discussed In retirement or separation from service officers return to the civilian world Some experience difficulty with this transition Issues to consider before retirement are presented The final chapter includes the general reflections and policing history of Dr Digliani These reflections include the insights that come only with years of policing experience in several police assignments including that of staff psychologist This is an excellent book for anyone interested in law enforcement policing and police psychology Psychology for Law Enforcement Edward J. Green, 1976

Modern Police Psychology James Thomas Chandler, 1990 The Psychological Effects of Police Work Philip Bonifacio, 2013-11-21 SOME DISCLAIMERS It is somewhat unusual to begin a book by declaring what it is not but the topic of police behavior is so complex that it requires the writer to state as early as possible the limits of what he has written here to describe and explain a police officer's experience In order for the reader to get a clear idea of what areas of police behavior are to be described it is necessary to delineate those aspects of police behavior that are beyond the scope of this book First of all this book is about the psychological effects of police work on policemen male police officers Nearly all of the police officers with whom I have worked have been men so my impressions and opinions are based on the experiences of male police officers Consequently descriptions and explanations of the motivations anxieties psychological defenses and resultant behavior of police officers must be limited to policemen I believe that there are significant differences in the psychological effects of police work on men and women but this book does not address this issue Police Managerial Use of Psychology and Psychologists Harry W. More, Peter C. Unsinger, 1987 The Role of Police Psychology in Controlling Excessive Force U. S. Department U.S. Department of Justice, National Institute National Institute of Justice,2016-08-15 In this 1994 report it discusses the role of police psychologists in preventing and identifying individual police officers at risk for use of excessive nonlethal force and the factors that contribute to police use of excessive force in performing their duties A sample of 65 police psychologists were asked what types of professional services they provided to police departments and how these services were used to control the use of force They were also asked to characterize officers who abuse force and to suggest intervention strategies based on police psychology that could help police managers reduce the incidence of excessive force Results of the survey indicated that psychologists were more involved with counseling and evaluating functions than with training and monitoring of police officer behavior and counseling was more likely to take place as a response to excessive force incidents than as a means of prevention Journal of Police Science and Administration ,1988 Psychology ,1929
