The Political Economy of Adult Education and Development Frank Youngman, 2000-06-15 In the formerly colonial world the discourse of development has established an almost unquestioned intellectual and political dominance Adult educators their purposes and their programmes are inevitably deeply shaped by this fact Frank Youngman believes that adult educators need to have an understanding of the various different theories of development and how different development strategies and biases impact on their own work The purpose of his book is to provide a theory of applied political economy to explain the interface between society and adult education in developing countries The author's own approach is broadly influenced by the Marxist tradition but one that seeks to transcend many of the limitations and rigidities often prevalent in the past He introduces adult educators to the main competing theories of development the modernisation dependency neo liberal and various alternative approaches He then demonstrates the power of his analytical tools by examining a variety of specific issues affecting adult education These include the impact of foreign aid social inequalities notably class gender and ethnic inequalities and the relationship between state and civil society in peripheral capitalist societies The book draws on a wealth of empirical information and case studies from various parts of the world but with particular attention to the country which the author knows best Botswana Its signal contribution is its elaboration of a theory of the political economy of adult education in the context of development and its demonstration of the applicability of this theoretical framework including its usefulness in generating appropriate research agendas

Making Space Vanessa Sheared, Peggy A. Sissel, 2001-06-30 Representative of a wide range of adult education and lifelong learning frameworks and experiences this book gives voice to emerging perspectives and offers thought provoking critiques of established practices and accepted theories Those in the adult education academy as well as other voices often excluded from the discourse in adult education offer critiques of the social political economic and historical forms of hegemony in the discipline They analyze the ways in which these hegemonic norms and practices have affected adult learning environments and the participation rates of varying groups and shed light on how adult education as a field of practice can marginalize individuals based on their ethnicity race gender class language age or sexual orientation These critiques provide a powerful statement about silence invisibility and the marginalization of the other and suggest that adult educators may complicitly if not implicitly marginalize adult learners This book will provide professors and students adult literacy teachers corporate trainers community based organizers and others with alternative ways to think about adult education practice adult learners and the multiple intersecting realities that influence the teaching learning transaction In so doing this book provides practitioners and academicians with a forum to dialog about emerging theories and practices and through the discourse they can begin to merge theories and practices through language that is accessible and inclusive
